Glorious Birthday.

Worth More Than Gold.
$500,000 for the Air.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Sunday was the one hundred and forty-eighth anniversary of the adoption by congress of Betsy Ross' flag, the Stars and Stripes. No one can deny that the flag has had 148 years of glory and decency.

It's a fine thing to go through 148 years never asking for anything that doesn't belong to you, and when forced to fight, always winning.

If advice could save, we should all be saved. President Lowell of Harvard says the world needs foresight, and tells seniors to "search for what is real truth."

What is truth, said jesting Pilate, and would not wait for an answer. How shall Harvard senior, gazing into the big world, like a chick fresh from its shell and still inside the incubator, know what the truth is?

Dr. Fosdick, another clergyman, says "the lawlessness of the American people is appalling."

Yet things have been worse. We have murderers, but fewer than one for every hundred thousand people. They had one in Adam and Eve's family, when there were only four human beings altogether. Cain killed his brother Abel cut down this population of the earth by 25 per cent.

Rev. Fosdick complains of our "jazz" in music, free verse in poetry, and morals "do as you please." But what's all that compared to Sodom and Gommorrah?

We are doing well, compared with the ancients.

The American Society for the Control of Cancer is more cheerful than Dr. Fosdick. It reports excellent progress without that degree, getting knowledge more slowly.

But never in his life will be be able to make up that loss of sleep.

Remember, young gentleman, money gone, you can get it back. But nervous energy gone, through lack of sleep, you will never recover.

Daniel Guggenheim who has found a great fortune, underground, now gives to the University of New York $500,000 to be used in the air. His money will be spent especially on engineering problems connected with flying.

Anything that helps flying is good, and Daniel Guggenheim deserves public thanks. Posibly he will make a little more money and teach a thousand young Americans to fly.

President Coolidge orders flying as part of the course at Annapolis, and may issue a similar order.

ELKS OBSERVE FLAG BIRTHDAY

Francis Scully Wins Patriotic Essay Contest.

More than 300 persons attended the flag day exercises of Elks' lodge, No. 258, held last evening in the ball room of the lodge home in West Fifth street.

An inspirational patriotic address by Rev. W. H. Clark, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, musical selections, the lodge exercises, and the reading of the three prize winning essays in the Elks' contest for eighth grade pupils of the city, were high spots in the program.

Francis Scully, of the St. Aloysius parochial school, was awarded first prize for his essay on "The American Flag."

The second award was made to Leona Gordon and the third to Mary gress. Thousands of lives, now need-

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS MAY DEFER VOTE ON PASTORS' PLAN

Attorney General Delays Ruling on Religious Education.

FORCES LINE UP

Question Will be Discussed at Meeting Thursday.

Due to a delay in the receipt of a ruling from Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, upon the legality of the procedure, members of the board of education may defer final action on the proposal of the Ministerial association to use schoolrooms of the city for classes in religious education, when they meet in the high school building Thursday evening.

Board Will Hear Arguments.

Attorney J. H. Brookes, president of the board, has received a letter from the attorney general, informing him that a copy of a recent ruling by the United States supreme court upon a similar question, has been received at Columbus and as soon as the matter can be thoroughly investigated he will advise him. However, up to noon today no opinion had been received from Columbus.

Representatives of both sides — those favoring the use of the schools for the course and those opposed to it —will be heard by the board Thursday night. The Ministerial association, which is sponsoring the proposal, will be represented by Rev. Dr. Frank G. Fowler, Rev. L. J. Davison, Rev. B. R. Johnson and Rev. A. H. O'Brien. A committee of other citizens will urge the board refuse the pastors' request.

The Ministerial association contends that the course will be open only to students whose parents request it and that the classes will not interfere with children of other faiths. Opponents will argue that the schools are supported by taxpayers of all creeds and denominations and that schools or in-

MacMillan's Polar Dash Starts On Bunker Hill Day

Arctic Explorer Hopes to Rescue Amundsen-Ellsworth Flyers and Discover "Hidden Continent" North of Alaska.

BOSTON, June 17.—Commander Donald B. MacMillan's Polar dash got started today.

The intrepid Arctic explorer hopes to rescue the Amundsen-Ellsworth flyers in the far north, to discover a "hidden continent" north of Alaska, to plant the Stars and Stripes on it and to chart air routes above it.

The first step in the northward dash of MacMillan and his party was the sailing of the exploration steamer Peary from Boston navy yard at noon today.

The sailing of the Peary from historic Charlestown shore came on the 150th anniversary of the famous battle of Bunker Hill, which took place within a stone's throw of the navy yard. Thousands of visitors were at the yard.

Tendered "Farewell" Breakfast.

The weather was ideal. The program incidental to the sailing of the Peary, named after the discoverer of the North Pole, included a "farewell" breakfast to the commander and his men by the state of Massachusetts, tendered by Gov. Allen T. Fuller at a Boston hotel, and exercises at the navy yard on the deck of the famous naval frigate, Constitution.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore W. Robinson, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic society; United States Senator Butler, Speaker Gillett, Gov. Fuller and Mayor Curley were on the list of speakers at the navy yard exercises.

In the upper harbor, off the navy yard, stood six United States destroyers, which will escort the Peary to Wiscasett, Maine, to join MacMillan's auxiliary polar steamer, the Bow-

AMERICA DOES NOT NEED MORE DEMOCRACY, HUGHES DECLARES

Former Secretary of State Hits "Abuses and Tyrannies That May Bear Popular Labels," in Bunker Hill Address.

BOSTON, June 17.—America does not need more democracy so much as she needs more intelligent direction of the democracy already existing, Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, declared today in an address delivered in Faneuil Hall, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill.

Hughes spoke on the responsibilities that the Americans today should exercise under the heritage of freedom gained from "the hardy men" of revolutionary times.

He coupled with his address a new warning against radicalists "and abuses and tyrannies that may bear popular labels," but which, he said, are not designed to promote democracy, but to throttle it.

Learn Practice of Liberty

'We have fallen upon a time when it is not necessary to argue the right of self-government but to demonstrate the capacity for its exercise; not to invoke the name of liberty, but to learn the practice of liberty," Mr. Hughes said.

'Our fathers were men of peace and faithfully tried the processes of peace, but happily they were not Pacifists," he said. "If it could not be liberty and peace, then it should be war that men might still be free."

The government of King George, he said made the fatal blunder of answering arguments with troops and when these did not avail, passed additional extreme measures which troops were expected to enforce Republic Awaits Tests.

"The corner-stone of the American union was laid at Bunker Hall, Mr. Hughes continued.

"But we must realize that it was but yesterday that Boston was held by British troops, that our republic is in the heyday of a lusty and ex-

License Supplies Exhausted by Rush On Anglers' Part

Issuance of anglers' licenses has been halted today by City Auditor William McGraw pending the receipt of an additional supply of blanks. The first supply, a pad of but 20, was exhausted a few days after the bill became operative.

All sportsmen, who fish with rod and reel, are required to take out a state license, costing $1.10. The register collects 10 cents for his work, the remaining $1 going to the state. No license is required for anglers who use a hook and line.

Hot Fight Promised for Office of President.

CLEVELAND, June 17—Nomination of 61 officers to serve Rotary International for the coming year was the outstanding business on today's program of the sixteenth annual convention. A hot fight for the office of president, to succeed Everett W. Hill, of Oklahoma City, was forecast, the candidates being Donald A. Adams, of New Haven, Conn., and Paul H. King, of Detroit.

Nominating speeches today are limited to five minutes. Election will take place tomorrow.

Among those who will be nominated for directors are the following: Harry H. Rogers, of San Antonio, Tex., Arthur H. Sepp, of Huntington, Ind.; Hart I. Seely, of Waverly, N. Y.; George O. Relf, of Salt Lake City; Herbert M. Laflin, of Milwaukee; Carl Faust, of Jackson, Miss; Hiram C. Morton, of St Louis; Charles J. Burchell, of Halifax, N. S., and A. F. Graves, of Brighton, England. Three Local Boys Will be Paroled From Reformatory

Three East Liverpool youths, sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory about 13 months ago, following their conviction upon charges of breaking and entering, are to be paroled July 1.

They are: Otha Bailey, 18, Ellsworth Hollman, 19, and Stillman Smith, also 19. The trio, all wards of the probate court, were charged with having entered the A. & P. tea store, Walnut street, on April 22, 1922. They were arrested a few days after the robbery and sentenced to the reformatory by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle on May 12, 1924.

WRECK DEATH TOLL MOUNTS; MAY REACH 50 BEFORE NIGHT

Rechecking Shows 43 Dead in Lackawanna Crash.

31 ARE INJURED

Three Investigations of Rockport, N. J., Smash-up Under Way.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 27.—The death toll in the Lackawanna train wreck mounted slowly upward today as three investigations got under way to fix responsibility for the catastrophe.

A rechecking of the casualties listed in half a dozen hospitals this morning fixed the dead at 43 and the injured at 31, with the probability existing that the dead may total 50 before nightfall. Some of those injured cannot survive, according to physicians.

Aside from the members of the train crew, most of whom came from Scranton, Pa., all of the dead and injured were from Chicago. They had left their homes Sunday on the special D. L. & W. train, bound for Hoboken, where they expected to sail on Tuesday for a long-awaited holiday in Germany. For some of the excursionists, the trip represented the saving and dream of a lifetime. All were of German descent, and many of them came to the United States years ago as immigrants.

Aboard the United States liner Republic are 143 of the approximately 250 tourists, many of whom were treated aboard ship by surgeons for injuries received in the crash

WHITNEY WINS IN NEW JERSEY

Named G. O. P. Nominee for Governor; Moore Dems' Choice.

TRENTON, N. J., June 17.—New Jersey Republicans have nominated State Senator Arthur Whitney, of Mendham, for the governorship, it was disclosed today in fairly complete returns from yesterday's state-wide primary.

The Democratic nomination went to City Commissioner A. Harry Moore, of Jersey City, without opposition.

Estimates based upon returns this morning indicated Whitney's plurality over his two opponents, ex-Attorney General Thomas F. McCran, of Paterson, and ex-Judge Cornelius Doremus, of Ridgewood, would come close to 25,000. The voting generally was light. McCran ran second and Doremus a poor third.

The figures were: Whitney, 123,560; McCran, 97,280; Doremus, 46,924.

The districts not reported are mainly in remote sections, where the voting is not heavy, and they will not materially affect the standing.

The wet-and-dry issue and religious differences entered the Republican contest to considerable degree. McCran is a catholic and avowedly anti-prohibition. He polled a large vote in the cities and industrial sections, but Doremus, a pronounced dry, was snowed under.

The defeat of McCran marks a defeat also for Senator Walter E. Edge, the Republican leader of New Jersey, who had sponsored and promoted his candidacy.

LATE WARREN STONE'S RIGHT HAND MAN NAMED TO SUCCEED HIS CHIEF

Brotherhood Presidency Carries With it Not Only Leadership of Labor Union With More Than 100,000 Members, But Wields Tremendous Power in Financial World.

GRIFFING IS NAMED FIRST VICE PRESIDENT; JOHNSON IS GRAND CHIEF.

Born in Philadelphia and Educated in Belfast, Ireland, New Leader Began Firing on Grand Trunk Railway in Canada in 1874 — Elected Grand Engineer in 1924.

By WILLIAM J. HUSKE.

CLEVELAND, June 17.—William B. Prenter, 70, for years the right hand man of Warren S. Stone, today took up the duties of the president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, laid down by his late chief last Friday with his sudden death.

The office carries with it not only the headship of a compact and highly organized labor union of more than 100,000 members, but wields a tremendous power in the financial world through the control of banks in New York, Cleveland, Boston and many other cities throughout the United States.

The advisory board, consisting of the first and second vice presidents, grand chiefs and nine assistant grand chiefs, made the selection. It was felt, they explained, that inasmuch as Prenter has been Stone's closest adviser in the pioneer years of the venture of the organization into Wall street and the financial world, he was the man best fitted to "carry on" until the members of the order, when they meet in 1927 in triennial convention, select their own man to fill the post.

May Not Seek Re-election

It was said by members of the board that it was improbable that at that time Prenter would be a candidate to succeed himself.

NEW EXECUTIVE 70 YEARS OLD

L. G. [illegible] of the order since the convention of 1924, was named as first vice president to succeed Prenter.

A. Johnson, of Superior, Wis., assistant grand chief, was elected grand chief.

Later today a new assistant will be named for this office.

Carry Out Stone's Policies.

Prenter was born in Philadelphia in 1855. He was educated in Belfast, Ireland, going to Canada, when still in his youth, and began firing on the Grand Trunk railway in 1874.

In 1904, Prenter was elected first grand engineer of the brotherhood, and in 1921 was named as general secretary-treasurer. In 1924 he was elected first vice-president.

He had been the right hand man of the late president in the development of the Brotherhood co-operative bank, and other enterprises growing out of the successful foray of the organization into the fields of high finance. He hmas served as vice-president and cashier of the co-operative bank here, is a director of the Empire Trust company, New York. He also holds positions in most of the companies organized by the Brotherhood in carrying out its new financial policies.

"The Stone policies will be carried out," was the brief official announcement which accompanied the words of the choice of a new head. "We will continue along the lines that have proven so successful in the past, not only in our dealings with the railroads but in other relations.'

Uncle Sam Calls For Bandsmen for Army Service Place

A call for bandsmen who can qualify as musicians for the United States army in both home and foreign service, was received by Corporal Alex Grossman, local recruiting officer, today.

Musicians are needed for the Fifteenth Infantry band in China, the Thirteenth Coast Artillery band in the Hawaiian Islands, the First Calvary band at Marfu, Texas, and the Tenth Infantry band at Fort Thomas, Ky.

Special ratings are provided for men accepted for the band, and an exceptional opportunity for instruction is given.

DRASTIC BONE DRY LAW CURBS ACTIVITIES OF HOOSIER STATE BOOTLEGGERS; VIOLATORS ARE SEARCHED, JAILED AND GIVEN HEAVY FINES

EDITORS' NOTE—Indiana's new "bone dry" prohibition law has attracted nation-wide interest, owing to its drastic provisions, generally acknowledged the most severe of any on the statute books of any other state in the union. The law has been bitterly excoriated and as ardently extolled; it has drawn the withering verbal fire of many nationally-known persons and the vigorous championing of equally well-known celebrities, with the result that it has drawn unusual interest from all over the country.

By J. L. MEDDOFF.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 17.—Indiana's new liquor law—"bone dry," they call it—today occupies the center of national interest in prohibition enforcement.

Its provisions are drastic—even revolutionary. The drys champion the law as ideal for the purpose for which it was created and its proponents unhesitatingly declare that it will strip the liquor question of its hypocricy and place prohibition on its merits as a reality.

On the other hand, many consider the law is imperialistic. They contend it flagrantly violates every article of the bill of rights and tears into the very heart of the federal constitution.

Law Effective.

From the standpoint of the neutral observer, the law is producing results in a manner indicating that the state soon may experience an era of real prohibition in which few citizens will dare run the risk of arrest.

The inescapable facts in this case, taken from official government records here, are these:

Indiana's new liquor law has been in effect slightly more than one month.

For the first five months of this year, during which time the old law was in force, a total of 370 arrests were made for prohibition violations. In the first month that the "bone-dry" law was operative a total of 267 arrests were made for prohibition violations.

Sentences of those convicted under the old law during the first five months of 1925 totaled 161 years. Sentences of those convicted in the single month the new law has been in effect totaled 67 years.

Total fines of liquor-law violators during the first five months of the current year under the old law were $53,617. Fines assessed violators of the new law in the first month of its existence aggregated $27,156.

A sample of the dractic manner in which the new law deals with what previously was a minor liquor offense follows:

Under the old law a person arrested on a public street or in a public place for drunkenness could be fined NOT less than $1 nor more than $5 for the first offense and also for the second offense. It was NOT until he committed the third offense that he could be sent to jail, and then only for a short time.

Jail Sentence.

Today arrest for intoxication carries a minimum fine of $10 and a maximum of $100, plus a jail sentence of from one month to six months. On only one condition is the court empowered to show leniency and lessen this penalty—when the prisoner reveals the name of the person from whom he obtained the liquor.

The increase in arrests and convictions has been made possible by two sharp teeth in the new law. The biggest, keenest and sharpest of these two teeth is the provision against the mere possession of liquor.

Under the old law the possession of liquor was NOT punishable, the State Supreme Court having ruled that portion of it out on a legal technicality and declaring it unconstitutional. Thus, under the old Federal law, agents could raid a home only when there was evidence of a sale.

Under the new law, however, things are radically different. Possession constitutes a serious crime in itself and is punishable for the first and second offenses with a $100 to $500 fine and a jail sentence of from one to six months. A third offense is a felony and is punishable with a one to five-year sentence.

May Raid Homes

And also, under the new law, Federal agents may enter and raid a suspected home on State search warrants to get evidence of possession, provided they are accompanied by state officers, or if they are deputized as constables.

The officers now do not have to carry into court any of the liquor alleged to have been in the possession of an arrested person. Containers with the mere odor of liquor and the testimony of the officers that they smelled liquor are prima facie evidence, under the "bone-dry" law, of the operation of a "blind tiger."

The second sharp tooth in the new law is the provision making the pur-

License Supplies Exhausted by Rush On Anglers' Part

Issuance of anglers' licenses has been halted today by City Auditor William McGraw pending the receipt of an additional supply of blanks. The first supply, a pad of but 20, was exhausted a few days after the bill became operative.

All sportsmen, who fish with rod and reel, are required to take out a state license, costing $1.10. The register collects 10 cents for his work, the remaining $1 going to the state. No license is required for anglers who use a hook and line.

WRECK DEATH TOLL MOUNTS; MAY REACH 50 BEFORE NIGHT

Rechecking Shows 43 Dead in Lackawanna Crash.

31 ARE INJURED

Three Investigations of Rockport, N. J., Smash-up Under Way.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 27.—The death toll in the Lackawanna train wreck mounted slowly upward today as three investigations got under way to fix responsibility for the catastrophe.

A rechecking of the casualties listed in half a dozen hospitals this morning fixed the dead at 43 and the injured at 31, with the probability existing that the dead may total 50 before nightfall. Some of those injured cannot survive, according to physicians.

Aside from the members of the train crew, most of whom came from Scranton, Pa., all of the dead and injured were from Chicago. They had left their homes Sunday on the special D. L. & W. train, bound for Hoboken, where they expected to sail on Tuesday for a long-awaited holiday in Germany. For some of the excursionists, the trip represented the saving and dream of a lifetime. All were of German descent, and many of them came to the United States years ago as immigrants.

Aboard the United States liner Republic are 143 of the approximately 250 tourists, many of whom were treated aboard ship by surgeon injuries received in the crash

WHITNEY WINS IN NEW JERSEY

Named G. O. P. Nominee for Governor; Moore Dems' Choice.

TRENTON, N. J., June 17.—New Jersey Republicans have nominated State Senator Arthur Whitney, of Mendham, for the governorship, it was disclosed today in fairly complete returns from yesterday's state-wide primary.

The Democratic nomination went to City Commissioner A. Harry Moore, of Jersey City, without opposition.

Estimates based upon returns this morning indicated Whitney's plurality over his two opponents, ex-Attorney General Thomas F. McCran, of Paterson, and ex-Judge Cornelius Doremus, of Ridgewood, would come close to 25,000. The voting generally was light. McCran ran second and Doremus a poor third.

The figures were: Whitney, 123,560; McCran, 97,280; Doremus, 46,924.

The districts not reported are mainly in remote sections, where the voting is not heavy, and they will not materially affect the standing.

The wet-and-dry issue and religious differences entered the Republican contest to considerable degree. McCran is a catholic and avowedly anti-prohibition. He polled a large vote in the cities and industrial sections, but Doremus, a pronounced dry, was snowed under.

The defeat of McCran marks a defeat also for Senator Walter E. Edge, the Republican leader of New Jersey, who had sponsored and promoted his candidacy.

LATE WARREN STONE'S RIGHT HAND MAN NAMED TO SUCCEED HIS CHIEF

Brotherhood Presidency Carries With it Not Only Leadership of Labor Union With More Than 100,000 Members, But Wields Tremendous Power in Financial World.

GRIFFING IS NAMED FIRST VICE PRESIDENT; JOHNSON IS GRAND CHIEF

Born in Philadelphia and Educated in Belfast, Ireland, New Leader Began Firing on Grand Trunk Railway in Canada in 1874 — Elected Grand Engineer in 1924.

By WILLIAM J. HUSKE.

CLEVELAND, June 17.—William B. Prenter, 70, for years the right hand man of Warren S. Stone, today took up the duties of the president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, laid down by his late chief last Friday with his sudden death.

The office carries with it not only the headship of a compact and highly organized labor union of more than 100,000 members, but wields a tremendous power in the financial world through the control of banks in New York, Cleveland, Boston and many other cities throughout the United States.

The advisory board, consisting of the first and second vice presidents, grand chiefs and nine assistant grand chiefs, made the selection. It was felt, they explained, that inasmuch as Prenter has been Stone's closest adviser in the pioneer years of the venture of the organization into Wall street and the financial world, he was the man best fitted to "carry on" until the members of the order, when they meet in 1927 in triennial convention, select their own man to fill the post.

May Not Seek Re-election

It was said by members of the board that it was improbable that at that time Prenter would be a candidate to succeed himself,

L. G. [illegible] of the order since the convention of 1924, was named as first vice president to succeed Prenter.

A. Johnson, of Superior, Wis., assistant grand chief, was elected grand chief.

Later today a new assistant will be named for this office.

Carry Out Stone's Policies.

Prenter was born in Philadelphia in 1855. He was educated in Belfast, Ireland, going to Canada, when still in his youth, and began firing on the Grand Trunk railway in 1874.

In 1904, Prenter was elected first grand engineer of the brotherhood, and in 1921 was named as general secretary-treasurer. In 1924 he was elected first vice-president.

He had been the right hand man of the late president in the development of the Brotherhood co-operative bank, and other enterprises growing out of the successful foray of the organization into the fields of high finance. He hmas served as vice-president and cashier of the co-operative bank here, is a director of the Empire Trust company, New York. He also holds positions in most of the companies organized by the Brotherhood in carrying out its new financial policies.

"The Stone policies will be carried out," was the brief official announcement which accompanied the words of the choice of a new head. "We will continue along the lines that have proven so successful in the past, not only in our dealings with the railroads but in other relations.'

DRASTIC BONE DRY LAW CURBS ACTIVITIES OF HOOSIER STATE BOOTLEGGERS; VIOLATORS ARE SEARCHED, JAILED AND GIVEN HEAVY FINES

EDITORS' NOTE—Indiana's new "bone dry" prohibition law has attracted nation-wide interest, owing to its drastic provisions, generally acknowledged the most severe of any on the statute books of any other state in the union. The law has been bitterly excoriated and as ardently extolled; it has drawn the withering verbal fire of many nationally-known persons and the vigorous championing of equally well-known celebrities, with the result that it has drawn unusual interest from all over the country.

By J. L. MEDDOFF.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 17.—Indiana's new liquor law—"bone dry," they call it—today occupies the center of national interest in prohibition enforcement.

Its provisions are drastic—even revolutionary. The drys champion the law as ideal for the purpose for which it was created and its proponents unhesitatingly declare that it will strip the liquor question of its hypocricy and place prohibition on its merits as a reality.

On the other hand, many consider the law is imperialistic. They contend it flagrantly violates every article of the bill of rights and tears into the very heart of the federal constitution.

Law Effective.

From the standpoint of the neutral observer, the law is producing results in a manner indicating that the state soon may experience an era of real prohibition in which few citizens will dare run the risk of arrest.

The inescapable facts in this case, taken from official government records here, are these:

Indiana's new liquor law has been in effect slightly more than one month.

For the first five months of this year, during which time the old law was in force, a total of 370 arrests were made for prohibition violations. In the first month that the "bone-dry" law was operative a total of 267 arrests were made for prohibition violations.

Sentences of those convicted under the old law during the first five months of 1925 totaled 161 years. Sentences of those convicted in the single month the new law has been in effect totaled 67 years.

Total fines of liquor-law violators during the first five months of the current year under the old law were $53,617. Fines assessed violators of the new law in the first month of its existence aggregated $27,156.

A sample of the dractic manner in which the new law deals with what previously was a minor liquor offense follows:

Under the old law a person arrested on a public street or in a public place for drunkenness could be fined NOT less than $1 nor more than $5 for the first offense and also for the second offense. It was NOT until he committed the third offense that he could be sent to jail, and then only for a short time.

Jail Sentence.

Today arrest for intoxication carries a minimum fine of $10 and a maximum of $100, plus a jail sentence of from one month to six months. On only one condition is the court empowered to show leniency and lessen this penalty—when the prisoner reveals the name of the person from whom he obtained the liquor.

The increase in arrests and convictions has been made possible by two sharp teeth in the new law. The biggest, keenest and sharpest of these two teeth is the provision against the mere possession of liquor.

Under the old law the possession of liquor was NOT punishable, the State Supreme Court having ruled that portion of it out on a legal technicality and declaring it unconstitutional. Thus, under the old Federal law, agents could raid a home only when there was evidence of a sale.

Under the new law, however, things are radically different. Possession constitutes a serious crime in itself and is punishable for the first and second offenses with a $100 to $500 fine and a jail sentence of from one to six months. A third offense is a felony and is punishable with a one to five-year sentence.

May Raid Homes

And also, under the new law, Federal agents may enter and raid a suspected home on State search warrants to get evidence of possession, provided they are accompanied by state officers, or if they are deputized as constables.

The officers now do not have to carry into court any of the liquor alleged to have been in the possession of an arrested person. Containers with the mere odor of liquor and the testimony of the officers that they smelled liquor are prima facie evidence, under the "bone-dry" law, of the operation of a "blind tiger."

The second sharp tooth in the new law is the provision making the pur-

GORE SUGGESTS NEW STATE ROAD

Governor Wants Route to Begin at New Cumberland.

Governor Howard M. Gore, winding up an inspection trip of the roads in the upper panhandle district of the state stated last evening before leaving for New Martinsville, that a north and south highway, linking the far ends of the state, will be one of the first road building projects he will outline on his return to the capital.

The governor will give the panhandle access to the central and southern sections of the state by connecting and improving highways already existing. He proposes a route as follows: New Cumberland to Wellsburg, to Wheeling, to Moundsville, to Cameron, to Mannington, to Fairmont, to Clarksburg; thence west over the old Staunton turnpike through Dodridge Ritchie and Wood counties to Parkersburg; thence south through Wirt, Roane and Kanawha counties to Charleston; thence south to Bluefield. Much of the improvements along this route will come out of the reserve fund.

In discussing road conditions yesterday the governor recognized serious defects in the state road law. The system has been deplorably localized, he stated. But he is hopeful of being able to speed up construction throughout the state despite the fact that he has only a comparatively small amount of money available at this time.

Linking of existing roads wherever possible while new construction is going forward is one of the plans of the governor to extend the mileage as far as possible.

STATE CONVICTS TO WORK ROADS

A tentative contract providing for the use of about 500 Moundsville prisoners on road work has been submitted to the state road commission by the moard of control, J. Walter Barnes said yesterday. He added that the contract had not yet been returned to the board, but it is thought some such proposal will be accepted. The use of convict labor on state roads was authorized by the last legislature.

Members of the board of control, together with Warden S. P. Smith, are anxious to relieve the congestion at the state prison. Last week a new record was established when 1,749 prisoners were enrolled. Again and again within the last year therecord has been broken, and there is a prospect that a still higher record will be established this week with the arrival of prisoners from Cabell county.

As there are only 820 cells in the prison, it has been necessary to use cots in the factory and to put two or more men in each of a large majority of the cells. This condition has brought forth many complaints from the prisoners during the hot weather.

Joy Rider Escapes Death Five Times In Borrowed Auto

TAUNTON, Mass., June—If the movie camera men had been along when Timothy McCarthy, twenty-three, of Boston, out of work and needing "something to stimulate his blood," borrowed an automobile, they would have got a film worth recording.

Chased by four policemen, who fired several shots, Timothy crashed into two automobiles and a telegraph pole.

The gastank exploded, firing the wrecked automobile and another automobile.

McCarthy, unhurt, fled from the wreckage, ran along the railroad tracks and escaped death under the wheels of an express train by a hair's breadth.

Finally he was captured by police and locked up.

An automatic subway freight service is proposed by W. H. Loughridge, a New York engineer, who claims to have perfected a system that could be operated under Manhattan.

Chandler Performance

—a ten-mile ride will astonish you!

YOU have heard a great deal about Chandler performance.

You know that a Chandler broke all speed and stamina records when it sped 1000 miles in 689 minutes; that not even specially designed cars have been able to reduce Chandler's record-breaking dash to the top of Mount Washington.

You have heard that you can't clash gears in a Chandler—

—that the smoothness and getaway of the Pikes Peak Motor is no less pronounced than its power—

—that in comparative quality of coach work, the Chandler-Fisher bodies rank with those of any car built.

We invite you to verify all this. We urge you to accept our offer to provide you with a demonstrator any afternoon or evening.

You have definite ideas of motor car values and one ride will make you a Chandler enthusiast.

COUNCIL CUTS POLICE FORCE

Ordinance Abolishing J. L. McDevitt's Job Passed.

J. L. McDevitt, for 14 years a member of the Wellsville police force, today faces the loss of his job as a result of ordinances passed on first reading last night by council, providing for the abolition of the post of city hall officer and the creation of a new place, to be known as city hall janitor, at a salary of $60.

The action comes as a surprise move to police department heads and several members of council. Although economy measures have been in order constantly, it was not expected that such action would be taken.

Mayor James S. Barnes today announced in emphatic terms that he will veto the two ordinances. In this event, council probably will attempt to pass it over his head.

J. L. McDevitt today asked:

"Is this the reward for 14 years of constant service?"

The two ordinances were presented by the ordinance committee, including Councilmen Connor, Kerr and Baker. Councilmen Connor, Peters, White, Baker, Kerr and Nicholson voted for the two ordinances. Councilman Ewing voted against the two ordinances.

Three "economy ordinances" affecting the police department were presented, but only the two were acted on. The first ordinance provided for the abolition of the post of traffic policeman.

Inasmuch as there is no traffic policeman, in the true sense of the term, such a post could not be abolished, and consequently the ordinance was turned back to the ordinance committee.

Patrolman Arthur Newton, who operates the motorcycle in use by the city police department, is a member of the regular police force and does not hold a traffic officer post.

The second ordinance up called for the abolition of the post of city building policeman. It passed by a 6 to 1 vote. Ewing alone opposing it.

The third ordinance provided for the creation of the post of city hall janitor. A 6 to 1 vote passed this measure, with the balloting standing the same as on the previous ordinance.

There was little discussion from anyone following the reading of the two ordinances.

ASK FUNDS FOR HAMMOND PARK

Asserting that it would be desirable to further improvement work on Hammond park, City Solicitor George Ingram last night asked city council to consider the appropriation of funds for this purpose. The request was referred to the finance committee.

A resolution to establish a new grade on Second street, primarily for the purpose of permitting property owners to get away from high water conditions, it is said, was passed by the solons.

Several Chester avenue property owners requested council to establish a grade in order that they may make improvements.

Clerk George Hardman was instructed to go to Lisbon and obtain property records concerning holdings of residents along the alley between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, paralleling Main and Riverside, and the alley between Fourteenth street and Johnson place.

The city auditor's report follows: General fund, $968.35; safety, $52.28 (overdrawn); health, $302.75; service $1,206.53; water, $3,881.49; cemetery, $1,746.27; library, $664.39; special water, $16,828.16; auto license, $8,794.65; cemetery trust, $9.72; final retainer fund, $124.23; singing fund $30,542.39.

Lower Postal Revenues

The postoffice department finds its receipts diminishing when they were expected to increase. The receipts in 50 selected postoffices, which turn in more than half of the country's total postal receipts, are said to have fallen off more than $20,000 a day in the last few weeks.

The rates on various classes of mail matter were raised on April 15 to take care of the wage increase given postal employes.

There is no convincing evidence of a drop in general business activity accounting for this loss. Business is well sustained. It looks, from the evidence so far, as if the drop in receipts is due rather to the higher postage rate.

This need not cause surprise. It is the same natural law that appears in the income tax discussions. In taxation, as in land cultivation, there is what economists call "a point of diminishing returns," beyond which higher rates are useless.

The Eternal Now

Warren S. Stone, so long president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who has just died, had an unusual motto to live by. It was "The Eternal Now" preached so eloquently half a century ago by Thomas Carlyle.

It is a striking phrase, and a true one. It drives home the everlasting fact that in spite of memories of the past and dreams of the future, all that we have to live in is the present. Life is slipping, moment by moment, from the future eternity into the past eternity, and only the moment between is ours to think and act. It is this ever-changing moment that shapes the single life and affects human destiny.

The dreamer who uses up his present in dwelling on the past or future does nothing, gets nowhere, creates neither work nor character. That is the teaching of the old Scottish philosopher, on which Mr. Stone shaped his life.

"Work while it is called today, for the morrow cometh wherein no man can work." That is a more famous expression of the same philosophy.

Yet there is a limit to all things. The good, driven to excess, may become bad. Warren S. Stone was accustomed to labor 18 hours a day. He accomplished a great work, and he lived to a fair length of years, as human lives go; yet with his vigor he might have gone farther and done more if he had not ridden his ideal so hard. Physicians say he "died of overwork."

That is never justifiable save in a great cause; and even a great cause may be bettter served by occasional leisure than by everlasting exertion and strain. The man who takes time to relax along with his work, and think forward and back, is apt to see more clearly and waste less effort.

Two Normal Blind Boys

Two of the diplomas handed to the graduating class at the demonstration high school of the Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge went to blind boys. These boys had taken the first two years of their high school work at a school for the blind. Then they entered the public high school and completed the regular courses of the two final years with other normal students.

Handicap seems hardly a word to apply to their blindness. The two boys held their own very well in school. Some one read their lessons to them daily. They did their written work on typewriters. Mathematics proved a puzzling problem at first. Then one of the two blind students devised a plan of fastening a half-inch rubber band to a clip board and drawing their geometric figures with that aid. They used their finger-tips to feel the lines and they did their algebraic figuring mentally.

It was a fine and plucky thing for those boys to go to a regular high school and work right along with normal pupils. Such examples of courage and ability on the part of blind persons are increasing year by year. They are demonstrating to the rest of the world that physical handicaps are small matters so long as there is no spiritual handicap of self-doubt or fear.

Scattered Libraries

The library board in a city which is not large, but considerably spread out, proposes to build five libraries. Here is an idea quite different from the old plan of a single library in the business center of a city.

The library business has gone far since the early days of Carnegie libraries. Large cities nowadays usually maintain a big central library with branches in the outer sections to serve their own neighborhoods. But it is a notable evidence of the new method when a city with a liberal sum of money at its disposal undertakes to build several moderate-sized libraries at once, instead of a single monumental structure to serve later as the mother of a brood of smaller ones.

The decentralization of libraries is a fine indication of the wide diffusion of books and the democratization of the library system. Libraries are far more widely used, and far more useful, than they were decade or two ago, because books are being taken to the people instead of waiting for the people to come to the books.

Those idle ships the government build would make fine houseboats, if they could be got up the navigable rivers the government has dredged.

When you think back a baker's dozen years in politics, it does seem sort of inglorious to read of a bull moose in the New York zoo being broken in to give children buggy rides.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 17.—He is a crook de luxe. Broadway knows him by a fancy nonenclature suggesting sartarial elegance. He has been arrested in London, Paris and New York but manages to outwit the law. So he has become one of the cafe dandies.

He is foppish in dress even to cuff buttons matching his colored shirt. And along the lane where scandal and crime are sometimes glorified he is quite a figure yet he has the look of the hunted and despite his savor-faire he seems to be most unhappy.

My introduction to him came through one of those breezy Broadwayites who knows everybody and likes to show it. "That's Dude Dave"—which is not the name but near it—he wispered "come on and meet him." Another name such as Smith was given to him.

I found an extreme poseur. Most of his friends, it was easy to see, were sycophants and hew as used to flattery. He was pleased to talk of women. He liked casually to mention this stage star and that as though they were intimates instead perhaps mere fugitive acquaintances.

He spoke of his bachelor quarters here and in Europe, of his important friends—a certain marquis and a Parisian journalist. All the time his glances roved uneasily about the room and one cigarette after the other was consumed nervously.

Now and then he took daintily tinted letters from his pocket as theough he would like for us to read them and although he sought to give the idea of many romantic amours you got the idea that in reality he contented himself with the romantic diversions of a river bargeman on Saturday night.

Such persons wil always find a certain following on Broadway among those ready to lift a hat to bourgeois idols, knowing them false, hypocritical and heartless. But what does it matter so long as they pay for dinners and drinks?

About 20 out of 300 plays presented on Broadway each season are hits. This is why theatrical producing is perhaps the most hazardous of all endeavors. Without cut-rate ticket agencies many plays would collapse much sooner than they do. Joe LeBlang, who has made his millions cut-rating, is an "angel" in more ways than one. He not only fills empty rows, gives the public lower than box office prices but often backs a show and saves frenzied managers from being gazetted in the bankruptcy courts.

She was a drug store blonde with a sprinkling of gold teeth and a coon-shouting voice. Her escort was rather mild mannered but it seems she was paying especial attention to another man in the party.

Finally he said in his deepest tones: "I wash you would stop making yourself conspicuous with that person."

"All right,' said the blond, "but for heaven's sake be yourself and stop baritoning me."

When the Hotel Ansonia was built above 72d street, it was dubbed "Stokes' Folly." Too far up-town, was the cry yet a real estate shark declares that in ten years the hotel zone of Manhattan will be above Columbus Circle. It can safely be said to be above 42nd street just now. And either hotels follow theatres or vice versa for the theatrical zone in the past 20 years has skipped from fourteenth street far beyond 42nd.

Gilda Gray, it appears, is not to have her intimate theatre after all. Her husband Gil Boag bought the site and started work on the structure. In the meantime Gilda began a shimmy tour across the continent and the rewards were so great that she may not be seen here for several years.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

An Old Road To Baltimore.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—It is 40 miles and as many minutes by fast train from Washington to Baltimore. By automobile it is approximately the same distance over a perfect roadway and many machines make it in an hour. Rum runners have been known to do better—or worse. By boat it is almost 300 miles and a trip of 40 hours—two nights and a day.

This trip by steamer from the National Capital to Marylands metropolis, so little known to tourists and, indeed, to many residents of Washington and Baltimore, hae been described as a dip into the pages of the chronicles of a nation in its making, a little journey through a country teeming with riches of history and tradition. It is all of that and more, for its scenic beauties are such as to delight the eye and whet the jaded interest of the most blase of globe trotters. Its every stage reveals new settings of romance that fire the imagination and intrigue the artistic temperament.

As the trip is arranged it makes a delightful and convenient week-end outing, for one leaves either city late Saturday afternoon and lands in the other bright and early Monday morning. Its surprising length is due to the fact that the steamers carry freight as well as passengers and make numerous side journeys up the many estuaries of the lower Potomac and the lower part of Chesapeake Bay, reaching towns and settlements that have never known a railroad and depend almost entirely upon water transportation. The automobile is the only competition of the steamers in the greater part of this territory.

Embarking at Washington, the traveler takes the boat in the harbor at the foot of Seventh street and he will have a busy half hour's sightseeing before the vessel leaves the wharf. On the east, north and northwest he has a magnificent view of the city, while on the west and immediate south are the tidal basin, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the beautiful Potomac Park and the public golf links. Beyond, to the south, is the main river and across that are the hills of Virginia with the great Arlington National Cemetery and its splendid marble amphitheatre; the Doric mansion, dating from 1802, that was once the home of Robert E. Lee, and the great aerials of the Naval Radio station.

Barracks and War College.

Immediately on the left as the boat moves down the harbor lies the Federal Reservation, established in 1797, which is occupied by the Washington Barracks, with an arsenal, officers' quarters, a fine parade ground, and the War College, dominating the point formed by the junction of the Potomac and the Anacostia rivers. It was in the mouth of the latter stream that Captain John Smith bartered with the Indians for beaver skins in 1608, a year after he left the settlement at Jamestown and sailed into the great river to the north to which he gave the name of Patowomek. The mouth of the Anacostia is now marked by the big hangars of the Naval Aviation station, lying at the foot of the hill which is surrounded by the famous St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane.

The steamer's first stop is at historic Alexandria, which was laid out by Lord Fairfax and Lawrence Washington in 1748, and a mile beyond a small frame lighthouse marks Jones Point, where on April 15, 1791, George Washington set the initial cornerstone to mark the newly created District of Columbia.

Steaming onward between the hills on either side of the river, which is rather narrow here, the tourist gets glimpses of two fortified posts of the government that illustrate more than a century of military history. On the left one sees the high stone walls and glowering portholes of old Fort Washington, built in 1808 and destroyed by the British in 1814, and now occupied by modern batteries, while on the right bank is Fort Hunt, equipped with disappearing guns and low earthworks. Just around a bend from Fort Washington is the wide mouth of the Piscataway creek, where in 1634 Leonard Calvert anchored his ship and held a council with the Indians. Then the steamer continues for about four miles past Washington's wonderful Mount Vernon estate on the right, and on the left, the yellow buildings of the great fish batcheries of the United States Fish Commission.

Indian Head Proving Grounds.

Near the mouth of Dogue Creek, which marked the end of Washington's property, is the site of Belvoir, once the home of Lord Fairfax, which was burned during the Revolution, and next, after rounding the mouth of Gunston Cove, one sees on a hilltop the old brick building known as Gunston Hall, built in 1758 of bricks brought from England, by George Mason, author of the Virginia Bill of Rights.

Forty miles from Washington, on the Maryland side, lies the wooded headland on which is located the Indian Head Proving Grounds, a government reservation of 2,000 acres, used as a testing place for steel armor plate, naval guns, projectiles and powder.

Crossing the Potomac again the boat passes the mouth of Belmont Bay, near which lies Camp Humphries, an engineers' training camp during the World war, and just below that is Neabsco creek, interesting chiefly because on a hillside there the oldest tombstone in the United States was found in 1837. It bore the inscription: "Here lies ye body of Lieutenant William Herris, who died May ye 16th, 1608, aged 065 years, by birth a Britain, a good soldier, a good husband and neighbor." It is believed that Herris was of Captain John Smith's party.

It is impossible to give more than a hint of the numerous points of interest that now crowd either bank of the river. There is Widewater, the favorite fishing ground of Grover Cleveland when he was president, and the scene of one of the earliest achievements in aerial navigation, for it was here that Langley made his first demonstration of a heavier than air flying machine almost 30 years ago. There is Marlboro Point, where was located the Indian village where Pocahontas was sold in 1614 by her kinsman to Captain Argall, of Jamestown Island for a copper kettle and a few glass beads.

There are the small white house where Dr. Mudd set the broken leg of Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth; Morgantown and the famous Crain stock farm; Colonial Beach, once the home of "Lighthorse Harry" Lee and now a modern summer resort and the home of jazz; Popes Creek and Wakefield, with the monument that marks the birthplace of George Washington; Monroe Bay, near which President Monroe was born; Bushwood, with the large yellow brick structure erected away back in 1634; Chaptico Church, designed by Sir Christopher Wren of St. Paul's (London) fame, built in 1735 following a mission church established in 1694; Blackistone Island, once St. Clement's, where Calvert made his first landing when he sailed up the Potomac in 1634; a graveyard that haas been used for 240 years; quaint old Leonardtown, named for the fourth Lord Baltimore; Piney Point, another modern summer resort; the many inandings on the Yeocomico and Coan rivers; Priests Point and the plantations that have been the property of the Order of Jesus since 1653; St. Mary's, with the greatest wealth of tradition and memories of all—where Lord Calvert purchased from the Indians the site of the first capital of the colony of Maryland.

And then the steamer plows its way out of the Potomac and rounds Point Lookout into Chesapeake Bay. Fewer stops are made now, but there is Solomon's Island, at the mouth of the Patuxent, up which the British sailed when they captured and burned Washington a century and more ago, and during the night one passes Kent Island; Annapolis, the old-new capital of Maryland, and Fort McHenry, over the ramparts of which Francis Scott Key saw the Star Spangled Banner, in the dawn's early light, still waving over the land of the free and the home of the brave.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

An Old Road To Baltimore.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—It is 40 miles and as many minutes by fast train from Washington to Baltimore. By automobile it is approximately the same distance over a perfect roadway and many machines make it in an hour. Rum runners have been known to do better—or worse. By boat it is almost 300 miles and a trip of 40 hours—two nights and a day.

This trip by steamer from the National Capital to Marylands metropolis, so little known to tourists and, indeed, to many residents of Washington and Baltimore, hae been described as a dip into the pages of the chronicles of a nation in its making, a little journey through a country teeming with riches of history and tradition. It is all of that and more, for its scenic beauties are such as to delight the eye and whet the jaded interest of the most blase of globe trotters. Its every stage reveals new settings of romance that fire the imagination and intrigue the artistic temperament.

As the trip is arranged it makes a delightful and convenient week-end outing, for one leaves either city late Saturday afternoon and lands in the other bright and early Monday morning. Its surprising length is due to the fact that the steamers carry freight as well as passengers and make numerous side journeys up the many estuaries of the lower Potomac and the lower part of Chesapeake Bay, reaching towns and settlements that have never known a railroad and depend almost entirely upon water transportation. The automobile is the only competition of the steamers in the greater part of this territory.

Embarking at Washington, the traveler takes the boat in the harbor at the foot of Seventh street and he will have a busy half hour's sightseeing before the vessel leaves the wharf. On the east, north and northwest he has a magnificent view of the city, while on the west and immediate south are the tidal basin, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the beautiful Potomac Park and the public golf links. Beyond, to the south, is the main river and across that are the hills of Virginia with the great Arlington National Cemetery and its splendid marble amphitheatre; the Doric mansion, dating from 1802, that was once the home of Robert E. Lee, and the great aerials of the Naval Radio station.

Barracks and War College.

Immediately on the left as the boat moves down the harbor lies the Federal Reservation, established in 1797, which is occupied by the Washington Barracks, with an arsenal, officers' quarters, a fine parade ground, and the War College, dominating the point formed by the junction of the Potomac and the Anacostia rivers. It was in the mouth of the latter stream that Captain John Smith bartered with the Indians for beaver skins in 1608, a year after he left the settlement at Jamestown and sailed into the great river to the north to which he gave the name of Patowomek. The mouth of the Anacostia is now marked by the big hangars of the Naval Aviation station, lying at the foot of the hill which is surrounded by the famous St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane.

The steamer's first stop is at historic Alexandria, which was laid out by Lord Fairfax and Lawrence Washington in 1748, and a mile beyond a small frame lighthouse marks Jones Point, where on April 15, 1791, George Washington set the initial cornerstone to mark the newly created District of Columbia.

Steaming onward between the hills on either side of the river, which is rather narrow here, the tourist gets glimpses of two fortified posts of the government that illustrate more than a century of military history. On the left one sees the high stone walls and glowering portholes of old Fort Washington, built in 1808 and destroyed by the British in 1814, and now occupied by modern batteries, while on the right bank is Fort Hunt, equipped with disappearing guns and low earthworks. Just around a bend from Fort Washington is the wide mouth of the Piscataway creek, where in 1634 Leonard Calvert anchored his ship and held a council with the Indians. Then the steamer continues for about four miles past Washington's wonderful Mount Vernon estate on the right, and on the left, the yellow buildings of the great fish hatcheries of the United States Fish Commission.

Indian Head Proving Grounds.

Near the mouth of Dogue Creek, which marked the end of Washington's property, is the site of Belvoir, once the home of Lord Fairfax, which was burned during the Revolution, and next, after rounding the mouth of Gunston Cove, one sees on a hilltop the old brick building known as Gunston Hall, built in 1758 of bricks brought from England, by George Mason, author of the Virginia Bill of Rights.

Forty miles from Washington, on the Maryland side, lies the wooded headland on which is located the Indian Head Proving Grounds, a government reservation of 2,000 acres, used as a testing place for steel armor plate, naval guns, projectiles and powder.

Crossing the Potomac again the boat passes the mouth of Belmont Bay, near which lies Camp Humphries, an engineers' training camp during the World war, and just below that is Neabsco creek, interesting chiefly because on a hillside there the oldest tombstone in the United States was found in 1837. It bore the inscription: "Here lies ye body of Lieutenant William Herris, who died May ye 16th, 1608, aged 065 years, by birth a Britain, a good soldier, a good husband and neighbor." It is believed that Herris was of Captain John Smith's party.

It is impossible to give more than a hint of the numerous points of interest that now crowd either bank of the river. There is Widewater, the favorite fishing ground of Grover Cleveland when he was president, and the scene of one of the earliest achievements in aerial navigation, for it was here that Langley made his first demonstration of a heavier than air flying machine almost 30 years ago. There is Marlboro Point, where was located the Indian village where Pocahontas was sold in 1614 by her kinsman to Captain Argall, of Jamestown Island for a copper kettle and a few glass beads.

There are the small white house where Dr. Mudd set the broken leg of Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth; Morgantown and the famous Crain stock farm; Colonial Beach, once the home of "Lighthorse Harry" Lee and now a modern summer resort and the home of jazz; Popes Creek and Wakefield, with the monument that marks the birthplace of George Washington; Monroe Bay, near which President Monroe was born; Bushwood, with the large yellow brick structure erected away back in 1634; Chaptico Church, designed by Sir Christopher Wren of St. Paul's (London) fame, built in 1735 following a mission church established in 1691; Blackistone Island, once St. Clement's, where Calvert made his first landing when he sailed up the Potomac in 1634; a graveyard that haas been used for 240 years; quaint old Leonardtown, named for the fourth Lord Baltimore; Piney Point, another modern summer resort; the many inandings on the Yeocomico and Coan rivers; Priests Point and the plantations that have been the property of the Order of Jesus since 1653; St. Mary's, with the greatest wealth of tradition and memories of all—where Lord Calvert purchased from the Indians the site of the first capital of the colony of Maryland.

And then the steamer plows its way out of the Potomac and rounds Point Lookout into Chesapeake Bay. Fewer stops are made now, but there is Solomon's Island, at the mouth of the Patuxent, up which the British sailed when they captured and burned Washington a century and more ago, and during the night one passes Kent Island; Annapolis, the old-new capital of Maryland, and Fort McHenry, over the ramparts of which Francis Scott Key saw the Star Spangled Banner, in the dawn's early light, still waving over the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Reduce your ankles and legs with DR FOLTS soap

.....Dr. Folts soap is the up-to-date way to reduce arms, legs, hips, double chin.

Why should you turn to diets, exercise or drugs—now that a positive and ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS EXTERNAL way to melt excess fat from any part of the body without affecting other parts, is offered to you? To quickly get ideal slender lines all you need to do is to wash every night from five to ten minutes the parts you wish to reduce, with a good lather of DR. FOLTS' SOAP (but be sure to get the original reducing soap—DR. FOLTS'. Avoid imitations, "so-called just as good"). Dr. Folts' Soap, the original reducing soap, has for the last two years proven that it could really reduce fat people.

This soap, as soon as applied, is absorbed by the tissues, and suppresses excessive fat without any possible chance of harming the most delicate skin. It has been found ideal to get rid of double chins, because the skin is not left flabby or wrinkled after the reducing. Fat men and women are now using this wonderful soap with amazing results. Reductions of several inches in hips and bust are of common occurrence every day. Try it yourself. Go to any good drug or department store, get DR. FOLTS' SOAP (beware of imitations). If your druggist is out of it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler, or you can send a check or money order direct to the Scientific Research Laboratories, 350 W. 31st St., N. Y. C. DR. FOLTS' SOAP sells for 50 c. a cake, three for $1.20.

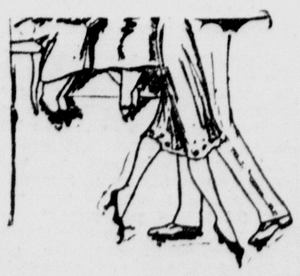
Paris says shorter skirts this summer.



Reduce your ankles and legs with DR FOLT'S soap

.....Dr. Folts soap is the up-to-date way to reduce arms, legs, hips, double chin.

Why should you turn to diets, exercise or drugs—now that a positive and ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS EXTERNAL way to melt excess fat from any part of the body without affecting other parts, is offered to you? To quickly get ideal slender lines all you need to do is to wash every night from five to ten minutes the parts you wish to reduce, with a good lather of DR. FOLTS' SOAP (but be sure to get the original reducing soap—DR. FOLTS'. Avoid imitations, "so-called just as good"). Dr. Folts' Soap, the original reducing soap, has for the last two years proven that it could really reduce fat people.

This soap, as soon as applied, is absorbed by the tissues, and suppresses excessive fat without any possible chance of harming the most delicate skin. It has been found ideal to get rid of double chins, because the skin is not left flabby or wrinkled after the reducing. Fat men and women are now using this wonderful soap with amazing results. Reductions of several inches in hips and bust are of common occurrence every day. Try it yourself. Go to any good drug or department store, get DR. FOLTS' SOAP (beware of imitations). If your druggist is out of it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler, or you can send a check or money order direct to the Scientific Research Laboratories, 350 W. 31st St., N. Y. C. DR. FOLTS' SOAP sells for 50 c. a cake, three for $1.20.

CROWD HEARS DR. L. W. TUCKER

Book of Revelations Discussed at Baptist Church.

Utilizing a colored chart of large dimensions Dr. Leon W. Tucker, of New York City, entranced an almost capacity audience with a pictorial presentation of the book of Revelations at the First Baptist church last evening.

That there are days of tribulation imminent for the earth was the outstanding affirmation of the lecturer. "I wish I could be optimistic in all my assertions," he said. "But truth impels a pessimistic expectation because of sin.'

But there will be no judgment for those who "are in Christ," he explained. The prophecy of dire happenings in this final book of Holy Writ are for those without His fold, those who are turning God's grace into lasciviousness. The prophetic order of judgment will not admit of an evolution of things minus these ominous clouds.

Dr. Tucker spoke of the two strange figures in these tribulation days, mentioned as two olive trees which some contend will be Moses and Elijah or Enoch and Elijah. Of their identity nothing could be accurately surmised.

The world is against every Christian; 1 would every Christian were against the world," he commented. "It is the duty of Christians to stand back of the few men who are supporting the word of God."

Dr. Tucker declared that the book of Revelations lifted a veil so that people may know what shall be in the future. "It, as the last book of the Bible, does what the first said it would do."

Final Service in U. P. Church.

Announcement was made by Rev A H. O'Brien that the final service of the present engagement of Dr. Tucker and party here would be held in the First United Presbyterian church at Sixth and Jefferson streets on Thursday night, so as to accommodate the large attendance expected. The meeting on Wednesday night, however, will be held in the First Baptist church, as usual.

In the afternoon Mrs. Jessie McKee Coons continued her meetings, begun last week, in the interest of the promotion of prayer.

Dr. Tucker announced his purpose of publishing another periodical in the interest of Bible study and evangelization some time this year, which will be augmented by perhaps a fourth later on. Those now being published by him are: "Broadcasting Radio," launched last July, and "The Wonderful Word," which has been appearing for the past 17 years.

It was announced also that the party would rest for three weeks following the engagement next week in Harding, Ark., Dr. Tucker, however, will go for a day or two to Danville, Ill., Miss Cora Belle Young, the violinist, will aid in a temperance campaign there; Mrs. Coons and her daughter, Evelyn McKee Coons, the harpist, will spend the interim at Lake Champlain, while Miss Allie May Schmidt will visit her parents in St. Louis, Mo.

The party will reassemble at Binghampton, N. Y., on July 27.

Preceding the discourse of Dr. Tucker, Miss Alice May Schmidt repeated by request the song, "Marvelous Grace;" Miss Coons contributed a harp selection from "Tales of Hoffman," while Miss Young gave "Blessed Lights of Home" on the violin.

"The Last Visit of Satan on Earth Prior to His Imprisonment" will be Dr. Tucker's subject on Wednesday night, while on Thursday evening his theme will be: "The Social and Sex Situation in the Sight of God."

"The Holy City" will also be repeated by the musical trio on Wednesday night, Miss Schmidt being the soloist.

lessly sacrificed, would be saved if people were informed and would keep away from quacks. The society denies the statement recently made at a convention of doctors that "nobody really knows anything about cancer."

"Cancer is not contagious or inherited," says the American society. Take the cancer in the beginning, when it is only local.

Peter Dutka, ambitious Czecho-Slovakian, came here at 30, worked in coal mines, saved money, and learned English. He already spoke five other languages. He went to Pennsylvania State college, studied until 4 a. m. daily in the morning, cut his sleep to three or four hours, and he gets his degree.

Those that give it to him will see a determined, emaciated man, his weight cut down 26 pounds for lack of sleep. He will be praised, and deserves it.

But, he could have done as well Helen Smith. They are also parochial school pupils.

Each of the authors read his or her own essay from the stage of the auditorium in connection with the services.

Cash awards of $15, $10 and $5, respectively, were made to the three pupils.

The services opened with introductory exercises by William Robinson, acting as exalted ruler, and lodge officers, including C. E. Gruber, A. B. Scott, James Thompson, Albert Hohman and T. Gerald Ryan. Prayer by Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church, followed.

The Elks' altar service were performed by Esquire T. Gerald Ryan and lodge officers. Tribute to the flag was given by William Robinson.

"Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung by Edward Adams, "The Americans Come," by Hugh Hamill, and "When the Flag Goes By," by a male chorus of 10 voices, were musical features of the program arranged by Miss Lysbeth Hamill.

Rev. Clark's address centered on the "Stars and Stripes." He referred to the flag as a real emblem of liberty and freedom and urged a true American spirit in keeping with this banner.

through the secretary of war, for West Point.

If Mr. Guggenheim and others will encourage industrial flying as President Coolidge is encouraging naval and military flying the most important problems in national safety will be solved.

Gertrude Ederle, a young American woman planning to swim the English channel, yesterday swam from New York city to Sandy Hook, 18 miles in less than 8 hours. She fought the tide during the last hour of her swim, and finished, apparently, not fatigued. She goes to England Wednesday and will train for the channel swim with Jabez Wolf, famous British veteran, who several times has tried and failed to make the great swim.

Gertrude, Ederle, only 19, has broken many swimming records. Pity that her magnificent vitality should be wasted on the channel. Nancy Hanks, six feet tall, was perhaps as powerful as Miss Ederle. She produced Abraham Lincoln, and that was better than swimming across the Pacific ocean.

Careful inquiry in restaurants shows that corned beef and cabbage is the favorite food of the New York American. Four thousand five hundred and twelve votes behind came the vegetable dinner. Nevertheless, corned beef, excellent for those that live by their muscles, is not good for thinkers.

Any process that makes decay difficult also makes digestion difficult. While your stomach is struggling with corned beef or salt pork your brain cannot do its best. We think and digest with the blood. It can't be in two places at once.

Germany is agitated. The great Stinnes house, its heirs quarreling among themselves, appears close to bankruptcy. Other concerns totter. Thorough Germans will make an intensive census and see just how they stand.

In one way they stand well. Butchery of the mark has wiped out their internal debt. The Germans as a nation owe nothing except what they owe the allies.

Payments to the allies amounting to only 160 odd million dollars a year at first, less than $3 per German per year, will not strain the resources of such a country.

An intensive census of England and France might show conditions more alarming than in Germany. Luckily for the British, when war began the other countries of the world owed British investors thirty-five thousand million dollars. English capitalists held foreign securities for that amount. During the war that was cut down by half at least.

The British government is rich, it has great resources, and knows how to lay and collect taxes. The British people are harassed with taxation, and feel poor.

In France it is the other way around. The French government is poor, finds it difficult to collect taxes. The French people, on the other hand, their exports far in excess of their imports, are as individuals, more prosperous than the British people.

We are the fortunate ones here in America, both government and people rich. Let's be grateful.

NOVA SCOTIA TOWN IS FIRED

Several Buildings in Coal Strike Area in Ruins.

GLACE BAY, N. S., June 17. — Incendiaries applied the torch in the mining town of Reserve, in the heart of Cape Breton coal strike area, and today several buildings were in ruins. The powder magazine at Reserve was fired.

The home of Don McNeil, a coal company stableman, was destroyed by fire. The house was owned by the coal company.

Relatives of Mrs. McNeil, who attempted to save the furniture, were seized by masked men. Chief of Police Daniel Martin, with the aid of striking miners, drove off the masked men. The torch was applied to the warehouse and corporation store at Reserve. United Mine Workers' patrons extinguished the fires.

The Hub trestle was set afire and was partly destroyed. The lamp cabin at Reserve was also set afire.

Two hundred troops are encamped about the general warehouses and the Dominion Coal company's offices at Glace Bay.

At New Aberdeen fresh troops arrived to augment the garrison from Halifax. More than 100 special police were sworn in.

A number of automobile parties rode through Reserve before the fires singing "The Red Flag."

Wreck Death Toll

burns from clouds of steam which enveloped the wreckage. The Republic sailed yesterday, after waiting two hours for a special train to bring the survivors and slightly injured from Rockport.

Three separate investigations are being conducted by James Maybury, Jr., chief of the bureau of railroads of the board of public utility commissioners, of New Jersey; Coroner Fisher of Warren county, and E. M. Rine, vice president and general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

A question of authority developed today over disposition of the bodies. Coroner Walter J. Cathrall, of Northampton county, Pa., issued an order that no bodies be removed from Easton until he had conducted an inquest. On receipt of this order, Dr. Paul Correll, chief surgeon of the Easton hospital, said he would ask for a court order to permit relatives to claim the bodies.

Coroner Fisher, of Warren county, N. J., who is to hold an inquest at the scene of the wreck, said he favored an immediate burial of all bodies.

Relatives Reach Hospitals.

The vanguard of relatives and friends of the dead and injured were expected to arrive here and at Easton today, many of them having left Chicago yesterday. In the various towns where the injured are being treated the bodies are in morgues, local citizens had formed committees of sorrow to assist in the matter of hotel and other accommodations those who were coming. Offers of financial assistance were being made by a number of prominent business men.

That the death list would total 50 shortly was the prediction of doctors. Of the injured in the Easton hospital nearly all were suffering from first degree burns caused by steam of the wrecked engine.

In Warren hospital, in Phillipsburg, six of the injured were in a critical condition, two of the eight removed there having died during the night.

Of the nine victims taken to the hospital at Dover, N. J., six died and the three remaining were in such a critical condition that surgeons held out no hopes for them. Three victims in the Memoid hospital at Morristown, N. J., died before 8 o'clock last night.

The morgue of C. W. Cochrane, here, held six bodies, the seventh, that of Jacob Scanlon, having been sent to Scranton. Of the six bodies, Cochrane said scalding steam had made possible identification remote.

List of Questions Prepared.

Attorney Brookes has prepared a list of questions which he will ask the ministers to answer during the hearing. A stenographic record is to be kept of the answers for future reference.

Selection of a successor of F. P. Geiger as superintendent of schools is not likely to come up for consideration at Thursday night's session, it was declared today. The board is investigating several applications.

A committee named to negotiate with Henry Goodwin, regarding the purchase of a piece of property as a site for school purposes in the East End, will report. The site, if acquired, will be used at once for portable school buildings, and ultimately will be the location for a proposed junior high school.

Purchase of portable school buildings for use in Glenmoor and East End will be discussed. William Dickey, school enumerator, has been asked to submit his report as soon as possible, showing the enrollment in these two districts. It is possible that at least two additional buildings will be required to house the pupils there next September.

Kirby's Lawyer Blames Bankers for Discount Co. Ruin

CLEVELAND, June 17.—Former Appelate Judge Walter D. Meals, defense counsel for Josiah Kirby—, today charged that prominent Cleveland bankers precipitated the ruin of the Cleveland Discount company in his questioning of Raymond L. Poland, former treasurer of the firm.

The charge brought special prosecutors to their feet shouting objections, which were sustained by Judge Fred H. Wolfe, Wauseon, O.

Meals asked Poland if Amos Burt Thompson, attorney for the Cleveland Trust company, was also attorney for the receivers. Prosecutors objected and were sustained by Judge Wolfe.

"We want to show that Thompson was attorney for the receivers and ask the question if it was not bankers of Cleveland that precipitated the ruination of the Cleveland Discount company," declared Meals. Poland however, was not allowed to answer.

Poland was indicted and later freed because of his testimony.

POWERS WARN CHINA IN NOTE

U. S. Joins Foreign Nations in Citing "State of Unrest."

PEKING, June 17.—The gravity of the "state of unrest which is reigning in China and already has imperilled the lives of foreigners' was pointed out to the Chinese government in a new note sent today by the foreign powers, including the United States.

The note called China's attention to "the great responsibility it incurs with the regard of the maintenance of order."

The note delivered by the American and other foreign legations to the Chinese government called "most particular attention to the Chinese government to the gravity of the present situation and the imperative necessity that it meet the situation."

The foreign powers listed the disturbances they regarded as the most serious and the worst indictments of the Chinese failure to maintain order.

LONDON, June 17. — If civil war breaks out in China Great Britain will remain neutral, the foreign office announced today.

Great Britain has sufficient warships in Chinese ports to protect her interests, it was said, but will not interfere in domestice warfare.

Two Railroad Men Are Killed When Freights Crash

READVILLE, Mass., June 17.—Two trainmen were killed today when the locomotive of a 50-car freight train from New Haven, Conn., rammed the caboose of a 48-car freight train from the same city at the Readville station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

The dead:

WILLIAM E. MURPHY, conductor.

JOHN B. DAVIS, brakeman.

Both men lived in Boston.

Drastic Dry Law

chaser of illicit liquor equally as guilty as the seller.

Under the new law a person receiving or buying liquor is liable to the same penalty imposed on the vendor. A $50 fine is mandatory, and a jail sentence is optional with the court.

This, according to Federal enforcement agents, has delivered a staggering blow to the exclusive bootlegger catering to a high-class liquor trade, and has thoroughly frightened the patron of a regular bootlegger into sobriety and almost total abstention.

It can readily be seen how precarious it is for a person to patronize a "regular" bootlegger under the new law. In the first place, the liquor peddler wields a wicked club over the heads of his customers, a club made all-powerful because of the potential blackmailing dynamite it contains. Because, under the new law, the person whose name is found in a bootlegger's list of patrons faces a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Thus far the major effect this provision of the new law has had on the situation has been to frighten away the habitual purchasers from their regular sources of supply, and this in turn has jolted the hitherto thriving liquor peddling industry to the point where today scores of bootleggers in Indiana have turned to less lucrative means of earning livelihoods.

Search Citizens.

Another drastic provision of the new law, serving as a concrete example of the thoroughness with which it deals with the liquor situation, makes a person carrying just a few drops in a bottle on his person liable to search.

This offense is classed as a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of from $100 to $500, in addition to a jail term of from 30 days to six months. On a third offense the penalty is one to two years' imprisonment and a fine of from $200 to $1,000.

To briefly state the major provisions of the "bone-dry" law, any person in Indiana may be sent to jail and fined today for:

Selling or giving away intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Purchasing or receiving intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Possession of intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Carrying liquor on the person—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Transporting liquor by vehicle — one to two years' imprisonment and a maximum fine of $1,000.

Possession of a still or its use—one to five years and a maximum fine of $1,000.

Manufacturing liquor — thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Operating motor vehicle while drunk—thirty days to six months and maximum fine of $500, and the court may prohibit the guilty person from driving any automobile for one year.

Advertising any formula, ingredient, apparatus for the illegal manufacture, disposal or transportation of intoxicating liquor—ten days to sixty days and a fine of from $50 to $500.

Increased sentences and heavier fines are provided for second and third offenses in virtually all cases.

Plan Air Cooled Automobile.

DAYTON, June 17. — A new air cooled automobile is to be manufactured in Dayton by a company yet to be designated. The car will be built here entirely. The motor is the exclusive invention of H. E. Elliott and C. W. Lang, and the car will be known as the Elliott. According to information, Dayton and Cincinnati capital is back of the enterprise.

"Tarnish" a Play of Youthful Emotions

An exceptionally large group of celebrated screen players are to be seen in the George Fitzmaurice production, "Tarnish," which was made by Samuel Goldwyn for First National Pictures, and which will be the main attraction at the American theatre beginning Thursday.

"Tarnish" is an adaptation by Frances Marion, well known scenario writer, of Gilbert Emery's Broadway stage success. It is a story about youth dealing with the tragedy that threatens young love when a young manicurist intrudes upon the blissful courtship of two lovers. In its structure there is revealed a fine, neatly woven drama, in which the past of the young man turns up and shakes and illumines the young girl.

How the tarnish is finally cleaned away forms the basis of a devastating chain of relationships, poignant, highly dramatic and entertaining. The leading roles are portrayed by Marie Prevost, May McAvoy and Ronald Colman, who scored so heavily in the leading male role opposite Lillian Gish in "The White Sister." Also prominent in the cast are Norman Kerry, Harry Meyes, Priscilla Bonner Albert Gran and Mrs. Russ Whytall.

Blocking The Road

About $400,000 of construction work in East Liverpool is being held up because 125 men choose to go on strike for more wages.

The carpenters' strike is blocking the road.

The East Liverpool people for whom that $400,000 of construction is intended, have provided the land for it, the material for it, the money for it—and they need the buildings. They have a right to have them. It is no joke with them. If you are in business, you know how it hits them. They have a right to have their side of this case considered.

The contractors have done everything humanly possible to settle the controversy and let the work go on. They believe there should be no increase in wages under present business conditions, but even so, they have gone the length of offering to let an impartial board of arbitration make the final decision for or against an increase. But the carpenters refuse to do even that.

The carpenters have blocked the road. They seem perfectly satisfied to keep it blocked. They seem disposed to make no effort to bring matters to a settlement.

Why should East Liverpool have to suffer?

CROWD HEARS DR. L. W. TUCKER

Book of Revelations Discussed at Baptist Church.

Utilizing a colored chart of large dimensions Dr. Leon W. Tucker, of New York City, entranced an almost capacity audience with a pictorial presentation of the book of Revelations at the First Baptist church last evening.

That there are days of tribulation imminent for the earth was the outstanding affirmation of the lecturer. "I wish I could be optimistic in all my assertions," he said. "But truth impels a pessimistic expectation because of sin.'

But there will be no judgment for those who "are in Christ," he explained. The prophecy of dire happenings in this final book of Holy Writ are for those without His fold, those who are turning God's grace into lasciviousness. The prophetic order of judgment will not admit of an evolution of things minus these ominous clouds.

Dr. Tucker spoke of the two strange figures in these tribulation days, mentioned as two olive trees which some contend will be Moses and Elijah or Enoch and Elijah. Of their identity nothing could be accurately surmised.

The world is against every Christian; I would every Christian were against the world," he commented. "It is the duty of Christians to stand back of the few men who are supporting the word of God."

Dr. Tucker declared that the book of Revelations lifted a veil so that people may know what shall be in the future. "It, as the last book of the Bible, does what the first said it would do."

Final Service in U. P. Church.

Announcement was made by Rev A H. O'Brien that the final service of the present engagement of Dr. Tucker and party here would be held in the First United Presbyterian church at Sixth and Jefferson streets on Thursday night, so as to accommodate the large attendance expected. The meeting on Wednesday night, however, will be held in the First Baptist church, as usual.

In the afternoon Mrs. Jessie McKee Coons continued her meetings, begun last week, in the interest of the promotion of prayer.

Dr. Tucker announced his purpose of publishing another periodical in the interest of Bible study and evangelization some time this year, which will be augmented by perhaps a fourth later on. Those now being published by him are: "Broadcasting Radio," launched last July, and "The Wonderful Word," which has been appearing for the past 17 years.

It was announced also that the party would rest for three weeks following the engagement next week in Harding, Ark., Dr. Tucker, however, will go for a day or two to Danville, Ill., Miss Cora Belle Young, the violinist, will aid in a temperance campaign there; Mrs. Coons and her daughter, Evelyn McKee Coons, the harpist, will spend the interim at Lake Champlain, while Miss Allie May Schmidt will visit her parents in St. Louis, Mo.

The party will reassemble at Binghampton, N. Y., on July 27.

Preceding the discourse of Dr. Tucker, Miss Alice May Schmidt repeated by request the song, "Marvelous Grace;" Miss Coons contributed a harp selection from "Tales of Hoffman," while Miss Young gave "Blessed Lights of Home" on the violin.

"The Last Visit of Satan on Earth Prior to His Imprisonment" will be Dr. Tucker's subject on Wednesday night, while on Thursday evening his theme will be: "The Social and Sex Situation in the Sight of God."

"The Holy City" will also be repeated by the musical trio on Wednesday night, Miss Schmidt being the soloist.

lessly sacrificed, would be saved if people were informed and would keep away from quacks. The society denies the statement recently made at a convention of doctors that "nobody really knows anything about cancer."

Peter Dutka, ambitious Czecho-Slovakian, came here at 30, worked in coal mines, saved money, and learned English. He already spoke five other languages. He went to Pennsylvania State college, studied until 4 a. m. daily in the morning, cut his sleep to three or four hours, and he gets his degree.

Those that give it to him will see a determined, emaciated man, his weight cut down 26 pounds for lack of sleep. He will be praised, and deserves it.

But, he could have done as well Helen Smith. They are also parochial school pupils.

Each of the authors read his or her own essay from the stage of the auditorium in connection with the services.

Cash awards of $15, $10 and $5, respectively, were made to the three pupils.

The services opened with introductory exercises by William Robinson, acting as exalted ruler, and lodge officers, including C. E. Gruber, A. B. Scott, James Thompson, Albert Hohman and T. Gerald Ryan. Prayer by Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church, followed.

The Elks' altar service were performed by Esquire T. Gerald Ryan and lodge officers. Tribute to the flag was given by William Robinson.

"Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung by Edward Adams, "The Americans Come," by Hugh Hamill, and "When the Flag Goes By," by a male chorus of 10 voices, were musical features of the program arranged by Miss Lysbeth Hamill.

Rev. Clark's address centered on the "Stars and Stripes." He referred to the flag as a real emblem of liberty and freedom and urged a true American spirit in keeping with this banner.

If Mr. Guggenheim and others will encourage industrial flying as President Coolidge is encouraging naval and military flying the most important problems in national safety will be solved.

Gertrude Ederle, a young American woman planning to swim the English channel, yesterday swam from New York city to Sandy Hook, 18 miles in less than 8 hours. She fought the tide during the last hour of her swim, and finished, apparently, not fatigued. She goes to England Wednesday and will train for the channel swim with Jabez Wolf, famous British veteran, who several times has tried and failed to make the great swim.

Gertrude Ederle, only 19, has broken many swimming records. Pity that her magnificent vitality should be wasted on the channel. Nancy Hanks, six feet tall, was perhaps as powerful as Miss Ederle. She produced Abraham Lincoln, and that was better than swimming across the Pacific ocean.

Careful inquiry in restaurants shows that corned beef and cabbage is the favorite food of the New York American. Four thousand five hundred and twelve votes behind came the vegetable dinner. Nevertheless, corned beef, excellent for those that live by their muscles, is not good for thinkers.

Any process that makes decay difficult also makes digestion difficult. While your stomach is struggling with corned beef or salt pork your brain cannot do its best. We think and digest with the blood. It can't be in two places at once.

Germany is agitated. The great Stinnes house, its heirs quarreling among themselves, appears close to bankruptcy. Other concerns totter. Thorough Germans will make an intensive census and see just how they stand.

In one way they stand well. Butchery of the mark has wiped out their internal debt. The Germans as a nation owe nothing except what they owe the allies.

Payments to the allies amounting to only 160 odd million dollars a year at first, less than $3 per German per year, will not strain the resources of such a country.

An intensive census of England and France might show conditions more alarming than in Germany. Luckily for the British, when war began the other countries of the world owed British investors thirty-five thousand million dollars. English capitalists held foreign securities for that amount. During the war that was cut down by half at least.

The British government is rich, it has great resources, and knows how to lay and collect taxes. The British people are harassed with taxation, and feel poor.

In France it is the other way around. The French government is poor, finds it difficult to collect taxes. The French people, on the other hand, their exports far in excess of their imports, are as individuals, more prosperous than the British people.

We are the fortunate ones here in America, both government and people rich. Let's be grateful.

NOVA SCOTIA TOWN IS FIRED

Several Buildings in Coal Strike Area in Ruins.

GLACE BAY, N. S., June 17. — Incendiaries applied the torch in the mining town of Reserve, in the heart of Cape Breton coal strike area, and today several buildings were in ruins. The powder magazine at Reserve was fired.

The home of Don McNeil, a coal company stableman, was destroyed by fire. The house was owned by the coal company.

Relatives of Mrs. McNeil, who attempted to save the furniture, were seized by masked men. Chief of Police Daniel Martin, with the aid of striking miners, drove off the masked men. The torch was applied to the warehouse and corporation store at Reserve. United Mine Workers' patrons extinguished the fires.

The Hub trestle was set afire and was partly destroyed. The lamp cabin at Reserve was also set afire.

Two hundred troops are encamped about the general warehouses and the Dominion Coal company's offices at Glace Bay.

At New Aberdeen fresh troops arrived to augument the garrison from Halifax. More than 100 special police were sworn in.

A number of automobile parties rode through Reserve before the fires singing "The Red Flag."

burns from clouds of steam which enveloped the wreckage. The Republic sailed yesterday, after waiting two hours for a special train to bring the survivors and slightly injured from Rockport.

Three separate investigations are being conducted by James Maybury, Jr., chief of the bureau of railroads of the board of public utility commissioners, of New Jersey; Coroner Fisher of Warren county, and E. M. Rine, vice president and general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

A question of authority developed today over disposition of the bodies. Coroner Walter J. Cathrall, of Northampton county, Pa., issued an order that no bodies be removed from Easton until he had conducted an inquest. On receipt of this order, Dr. Paul Correll, chief surgeon of the Easton hospital, said he would ask for a court order to permit relatives to claim the bodies.

Coroner Fisher, of Warren county, N. J., who is to hold an inquest at the scene of the wreck, said he favored an immediate burial of all bodies.

Relatives Reach Hospitals.

The vanguard of relatives and friends of the dead and injured were expected to arrive here and at Easton today, many of them having left Chicago yesterday. In the various towns where the injured are being treated the bodies are in morgues, local citizens had formed committees of sorrow to assist in the matter of hotel and other accommodations those who were coming. Offers of financial assistance were being made by a number of prominent business men.

That the death list would total 50 shortly was the prediction of doctors. Of the injured in the Easton hospital nearly all were suffering from first degree burns caused by steam of the wrecked engine.

In Warren hospital, in Phillipsburg, six of the injured were in a critical condition, two of the eight removed there having died during the night.

Of the nine victims taken to the hospital at Dover, N. J., six died and the three remaining were in such a critical condition that surgeons held out no hopes for them. Three victims in the Memoid hospital at Morristown, N. J., died before 8 o'clock last night.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Everett Scott, veteran shortstop was released today by the New York Yankees to the Washington Senators, the champions claiming him via the waiver route. No other player figured in the transaction, it was announced. Scott will report to manager Stanley Harris in Washington today in time for the game with the St. Louis Browns.

Recently Scott was sent to the bench after hanging up an endurance record of 1307 consecutive games played since early in 1916.

Two Railroad Men Are Killed When Freights Crash

READVILLE, Mass., June 17.—Two trainmen were killed today when the locomotive of a 50-car freight train from New Haven, Conn., rammed the caboose of a 48-car freight train from the same city at the Readville station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

The dead:

WILLIAM E. MURPHY, conductor.

JOHN B. DAVIS, brakeman.

Both men lived in Boston.

Drastic Dry Law

chaser of illicit liquor equally as guilty as the seller.

Under the new law a person receiving or buying liquor is liable to the same penalty imposed on the vendor. A $50 fine is mandatory, and a jail sentence is optional with the court.

This, according to Federal enforcement agents, has delivered a staggering blow to the exclusive bootlegger catering to a high-class liquor trade, and has thoroughly frightened the patron of a regular bootlegger into sobriety and almost total abstention.

It can readily be seen how precarious it is for a person to patronize a "regular" bootlegger under the new law. In the first place, the liquor peddler wields a wicked club over the heads of his customers, a club made all-powerful because of the potential blackmailing dynamite it contains. Because, under the new law, the person whose name is found in a bootlegger's list of patrons faces a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Thus far the major effect this provision of the new law has had on the situation has been to frighten away the habitual purchasers from their regular sources of supply, and this in turn has jolted the hitherto thriving liquor peddling industry to the point where today scores of bootleggers in Indiana have turned to less lucrative means of earning livelihoods.

Search Citizens.

Another drastic provision of the new law, serving as a concrete example of the thoroughness with which it deals with the liquor situation, makes a person carrying just a few drops in a bottle on his person liable to search.

This offense is classed as a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of from $100 to $500, in addition to a jail term of from 30 days to six months. On a third offense the penalty is one to two years' imprisonment and a fine of from $200 to $1,000.

To briefly state the major provisions of the "bone-dry" law, any person in Indiana may be sent to jail and fined today for:

Selling or giving away intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Purchasing or receiving intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Possession of intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Carrying liquor on the person—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Transporting liquor by vehicle — one to two years' imprisonment and a maximum fine of $1,000.

Possession of a still or its use—one to five years and a maximum fine of $1,000.

Manufacturing liquor — thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Operating motor vehicle while drunk—thirty days to six months and maximum fine of $500, and the court may prohibit the guilty person from driving any automobile for one year.

Advertising any formula, ingredient, apparatus for the illegal manufacture, disposal or transportation of intoxicating liquor—ten days to sixty days and a fine of from $50 to $100.

Increased sentences and heavier fines are provided for second and third offenses in virtually all cases.

Plan Air Cooled Automobile.

DAYTON, June 17. — A new air cooled automobile is to be manufactured in Dayton by a company yet to be designated. The car will be built here entirely. The motor is the exclusive invention of H. E. Elliott and C. W. Lang, and the car will be known as the Elliott. According to information, Dayton and Cincinnati capital is back of the enterprise.

"Tarnish" a Play of Youthful Emotions

An exceptionally large group of celebrated screen players are to be seen in the George Fitzmaurice production, "Tarnish," which was made by Samuel Goldwyn for First National Pictures, and which will be the main attraction at the American theatre beginning Thursday.

"Tarnish" is an adaptation by Frances Marion, well known scenario writer, of Gilbert Emery's Broadway stage success. It is a story about youth dealing with the tragedy that threatens young love when a young manicurist intrudes upon the blissful courtship of two lovers. In its structure there is revealed a fine, neatly woven drama, in which the past of the young man turns up and shakes and illumines the young girl.

How the tarnish is finally cleaned away forms the basis of a devastating chain of relationships, poignant, highly dramatic and entertaining. The leading roles are portrayed by Marie Prevost, May McAvoy and Ronald Colman, who scored so heavily in the leading male role opposite Lillian Gish in "The White Sister." Also prominent in the cast are Norman Kerry, Harry Meyes, Priscilla Bonner, Albert Gran and Mrs. Russ Whytall.

Blocking The Road

About $400,000 of construction work in East Liverpool is being held up because 125 men choose to go on strike for more wages.

The carpenters' strike is blocking the road.

The East Liverpool people for whom that $400,000 of construction is intended, have provided the land for it, the material for it, the money for it—and they need the buildings. They have a right to have them. It is no joke with them. If you are in business, you know how it hits them. They have a right to have their side of this case considered.

The contractors have done everything humanly possible to settle the controversy and let the work go on. They believe there should be no increase in wages under present business conditions, but even so, they have gone the length of offering to let an impartial board of arbitration make the final decision for or against an increase. But the carpenters refuse to do even that.

The carpenters have blocked the road. They seem perfectly satisfied to keep it blocked. They seem disposed to make no effort to bring matters to a settlement.

Why should East Liverpool have to suffer?

COUNTY HIGHWAYS MAY BE IMPROVED

Hancock county roads will probably be improved on a larger scale than first proposed as a result of the visit to the county this week of Governor Howard M. Contractors are now at work on roads in several sections of the county.

It is said that the citizens of Wellsburg were divided in setiment over the project which would have meant construction of a new court house and jail in Wellsburg, with the whole county bearing the expense. In order to provide the necessary funds, a bill was introduced in the legislature, designed to provide the county court with authority to issue certificates of indebtedness, covering a period of 25 years. The bill passed the house after a stormy battle and received more courtesy in the senate under the guidance of Senator W. S. Wilkin. However, it is said, that owing to pressure brought to bear on Gov. Gore, the chief executive attached his veto to it. Follansbee, realizing that sentiment in Wellsburg is strongly divided, has made a bona fide offer to the county court for a free site and a bonus of $50,000.

Princess Mustapha Leaves Paris When Dancing Girl Enters

BUDAPEST, June.—Finding Western views on marriage superior to the Turkish marital views, the Princess Medjidie Mustapha has left her Prince.

Although Princess Medjidie is but 25, she has been married to Prince Abdul Kadir for eleven years.

Addition of a new dancing girl to the harem is said to have been the immediate cause of the Princess' departure, together with about $25,000 worth of jewels.

The Prince appealed to the police, but the Princess refused to return to her husband and renounced all claim to her two sons, who remain with the Prince.

The Princess declares she intends to begin life anew in the Western style and that Mohammedanism is "foolishness for educated women."

The Prince is said to be broken hearted and finds no solace in his remaining wives ,and swears he will never grant Medjidie a divorce.

Coolie Carries Heads Of Dead Relatives Killed in Warfare

PEKING, June.—Too poor to transport the bodies of relatives killed in the battle of Shanhaikwan last Summer to their native place in Honan, a coolie was found carrying two heads wrapped in a cloth.

Attracted by a suspicious bundle, the customs inspector at Shanhaikwan stopped the man, who produced proper papers indicating that the heads he had with him were those of relatives who had fought with Marshal Wu Pei-fu and, since he could not take back the bodies, the families had to be satisfied with the heads of their dead.

Princess Mustapha Leaves Paris When Dancing Girl Enters

BUDAPEST, June.—Finding Western views on marriage superior to the Turkish marital views, the Princess Medjidie Mustapha has left her Prince.

Although Princess Medjidie is but 25, she has been married to Prince Abdul Kadir for eleven years.

Addition of a new dancing girl to the harem is said to have been the immediate cause of the Princess' departure, together with about $25,000 worth of jewels.

The Prince appealed to the police, but the Princess refused to return to her husband and renounced all claim to her two sons, who remain with the Prince.

The Princess declares she intends to begin life anew in the Western style and that Mohammedanism is "foolishness for educated women."

The Prince is said to be broken hearted and finds no solace in his remaining wives ,and swears he will never grant Medjidie a divorce.

National highways in Panama are being improved and an increase in the number of automobiles already is seen.

Coolie Carries Heads Of Dead Relatives Killed in Warfare

PEKING, June.—Too poor to transport the bodies of relatives killed in the battle of Shanhaikwan last Summer to their native place in Honan, a coolie was found carrying two heads wrapped in a cloth.

Attracted by a suspicious bundle, the customs inspector at Shanhaikwan stopped the man, who produced proper papers indicating that the heads he had with him were those of relatives who had fought with Marshal Wu Pei-fu and, since he could not take back the bodies, the families had to be satisfied with the heads of their dead.

FOR ITCHING TORTURE

Use Antiseptic Liquid Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation, and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, Itch, Pimples, Rashes, Blackheads, in most cases quickly give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid that may be applied at any time, for it does not show. Trial bottle 35c, large size $1.00. Zemo Soap, 25c. All druggists.

LEMONS BLEACH THE SKIN WHITE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. Simcox Puts up Stonewall Defense at Third Base; Engineers Dazzling Double Play at Hot Corner; Potters Pounce on Digman for Total of 13 Bingles; Nine Bat in Second Frame.

K. T. K. defeated the Chester Industrial league leaders last evening at Columbian park in a contest that bristled with thrilling performances, the stonewall defense of Third Baseman Simcox and the hurling of Pitcher Bucher. The final count was 7 to 1.

Bucher, veteran though he is, permitted the West Virginians but six scattered hits. His control was little short of marvelous. He refused to allow a single pass. But for a couple of bad throws by his teammates he would easily have registered a shutout, in the opinion of supporters. Incidentally he batted .500 for the day, his sacrifice fly sending in his team's first run.

But four men faced Bucher in each of the first four innings. In the final two he retired the West Virginians in order. In the sixth he fanned P. Bennett, P. Cebula and F. Marshall as quickly as they faced him. In the second he struck out W. McMath and Cochran in succession.

But once did Bucher seem to falter. In the third Digman and L. McMath singled with none out. Chester fans began to roar. Captain Shaw rushed in from right field and demanded that the crowd be moved back from the third base line. In the delay of doing all this the elongated twirler came back to his former effective form, and following an undertone word from the wily team leader, resumed his mowing down process.

Then it was that the husky, but quiet, Simcox did that which gave a famed southern officer the title of "Stonewall," for by almost uncanny perception and activity he kept the runners on the bases and retired each of the three next batters, and in doing so sent the big crowd wild by a dazzling double play that was completed so quickly as to appear hardly consummated. He ran behind the third base crowd to corral P. Cebula's foul. After taking P. Cebula's line drive he stepped on the bag before Digman, a yard off it, could touch it.

Simcox, too, hit safely twice, his double in the first scoring his team's first run.

P. Pollock had a field day at the bat with a perfect mark of two singles and a double in the appearances.

C. Coleman made the longest hit of the game—a triple in the fifth in which he showed himself a speeder as he rounded the paths. His catch, running back into right, and landing L. McMath's fly, stood out as one of the fielding stunts of the game.

Shaw, Finley and Simcox had two hits each. Rardin had the peculiar record of leading off in the second and third winning in succession during which he walked on both occasions and twice subsequently scored. In the fifth he again led off only to fly to P. Bennett in middle.

Digman was hit hard, a total of thirteen bingles being registered off him. Nine men batted against him in the second inning when four safeties, a pass an error and a sacrifice fly netted four runs. Though but one run ensued three straight hits were made off of him in the fifth inning also.

Darkness set in in the sixth inning and prevented further play.

Shaw, singling in the first, stole second and reached third as C. Marshall threw out Finley at first and scored on Simcox' double over third.

Rardin walked in the second. C. Marshall booted C. Coleman's drive. P. Pollock released a bunt, but no one was covering second and all hands were safe. Bucher flew to F. Marshall and Rardin counted. McShane singled, scoring C. Coleman and P. Pollock. Finley singled over third enabling McShane to finish reaching second on the throw in to stop previous runners at the plate.

Rardin, again walking in the third, reached second as C. Coleman sacrificed. Digman to W. McMath and third as P. Pollock singled to right. The latter stole second on Pott's overthrow Rardin crossed the plate. Potts retired in favor of McMath at this juncture, Cochrane going to first and M. Cebula to right field.

F. Marshall doubled in the fourth and went to third as Finley relayed wildly to that corner and scored on M. Cebula's sharp rap to Simcox, who threw accurately to P. Pollock, but the latter dropped the assist.

C. Coleman tripled in the fifth and scored on P. Pollock's double to middle.

LORD ASTOR'S ENTRY VICTOR

Saucy Sue Wins Coronation Stakes at Ascot Meet.

ASCOT, England, June 17.—Before a large crowd of women in smart gowns and men in correct morning dress, Saucy Sue, owned by Lord Astor, raced to victory here today in the coronation stakes, a feature event of the second day's royal Ascot program. It was Saucy Sue's third straight victory this year.

In spite of the cold, threatening weather British beauties again turned out in large numbers and paraded the paddocks hours before the races began.

Lord Derby created a surprise by scratching Pharos, a favorite for the royal hunt cup. He gave no reason.

Oarsmen From West Face Hardy Rivals of The East

Harvard and Yale Crews Meet Friday; Washington Will Try for Third Win Over the Field Monday.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 17.—There was a suspicion today, faint like the obligato of a distant violin, that the western dynasty over intercollegiate rowing may come to a sudden and altogether unexpected end before the passing of another week.

On Friday at New London, the Yale varsity, developed to rowing affluence by Ed. Leader, a young genius from the University of Washington, will race four miles against Harvard on Monday at Poughkeepsie, the University of Washington will attempt to make it three straight over the field.

Both Washington and Yale are and will so remain almost prohibitive favorites to win. Both may lose.

That, however, is merely a possibility. If even one of them fails to come through, it will be an upset worthy of a drop-bottom wagon. It is difficult to say just which of them faces the stronger possibility of defeat becaus it is so hard to imagine feat because it is so hard to imagine

Yale has only one crew to beat and hasn't lost a race in three years under Leader. His eight is said to be as powerful as the combination that rowed the world silly at the Olympic games, although only three members of that outfit, Spock, Kingsbury and Captain Wilson, are available now. It is a crew that would seem to be destined to wear the purple only.

But the tip is out that Harvard has mustered a great crew, perhaps the greatest Harvard crew of twenty years. There is nothing in its 1925 record to indicate impending fame. The eight has simply found itself during the last three weeks.

All the signs point to less than a boat length separating the two at the finish, and when you have to draw them that fine, anything can happen. Ask the man who didn't know it was loaded.

Washington's greatest menace at Poukhkeepsie is furnished by the Navy, which is said to have summoned its best combination since its immortal 1920 crew. This, if true, means that the boat which beats the Navy will be the finest in the land and perhaps Washington fals a trifle short of that classification. It rowed a time trial in worse than 21 minutes yesterday and "rusty" Callow is alleged to have frothed at the mouth. The fact of tha matter is that Washington couldn't hope to show much in the rough water prevailing.

Its trouble, however, was that it didn't show enough. No crew will win the Poughkeepsie event in 21 minutes, even if the race was rowed in Molasses.

Tagging The Bases

In one of the wildest finishes ever seen at Forbes Field, the Pirates pulled out a 10-inning decision over the Giants, 13 to 11, on a pass to Cuyler, Barnhart's triple, Traynor's double and Wright's home run, after the Giants had tied the score in the ninth and taken a two-run lead in the tenth. It was the fifth straight defeat for the Giants.

Imbued with their frenzy of the preceding day, the Athletics ran amuck against Shaute in the first two innings and won from the Indians, 12 to 7.

The Reds took third place away from the doddering Dodgers by winning the ball game, 6 to 5, with successive two-run rallies in the eighth and ninth.

Our Mr. Ruth got his third homer of the campaign, but the Tigers beat the Yanks, 5 to 3, thanks to Whitehill's commendable pitching. It was the ninth time this season the Yanks have failed to carry a winning streak beyond two games.

The wind carried Flatstead's fly ball away from the fielders and in consequence the Red Sox beat the White Sox, 2 to 1, in a real old fashioned pitchers' battle between Ehmke and Robertson.

Managerial fists flew in all directions as the Cards made it four straight over the Phils, 6 to 4. Managers Fletcher and Hornsby engaged in an impromptu brawl and were ejected. It was the tenth straight defeat for the Phils.

The Braves pulled out a belated decision over the Cubs, 7 to 4, by beating about the bush for three runs in the thirteenth.

Visitors Score Their Runs in Last Inning Rally.

Stiffling a dangerous rally launched by their opponents in the seventh inning, Babcock & Wilcox managed to finish in front of the Wellsville C. & P. nine last evening at Klondyke, 8 to 5.

The Oaklanders were leading when the clash went into the seventh inning. Up until that stage they had blanked the Wellsville nine in successive innings.

But the visitors suddenly found their batting eyes and fell on Morris for five hits, which, coupled with a costly error by McGonigal, produced five runs.

Morris settled down and stopped further damage.

The all-around playing of Rager in left field for Wellsville, and the hitting of Morris and Shipley, who led their respective teams with three bingles each, featured the game.

Stops your car Quicker! in 27 feet—going 20 miles an hour!

After a series of tests made on January 21, 1925, Mr. F. D. Wilson of the C. R. Wilson Body Company, Toledo, Ohio, signed this statement: "My Hupmobile, with two-wheel brakes, lined with Rusco Brake Lining, can be stopped, going 20 miles an hour in 27 feet."

That's how safe Rusco-lined, properly adjusted brakes will make your car. A lining will pass police inspection if it will stop in 35 feet going 20 miles an hour. Rusco stopped 8 feet quicker! With death ahead, 8 feet leeway is a godsend.

Rain or shine makes no difference to Rusco

RUSCO grips and holds just as well in wet weather as in dry. Turn the hose on Rusco-lined brakes. Then on any other kind. Water makes no difference to Rusco's stopping ability! Rusco is treated with a compound that makes it resist water, heat, oil, dirt and wear. Will not burn.

Your repair man pays more for Rusco than for other brands of lining, but he doesn't charge you more.

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you any other brand. When your brakes need relining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job. Have your brakes inspected and relined at any of the garages listed below. They are experts using special equipment for proper application of Rusco lining.

LORD ASTOR'S ENTRY VICTOR

Saucy Sue Wins Coronation Stakes at Ascot Meet.

ASCOT, England, June 17.—Before a large crowd of women in smart gowns and men in correct morning dress, Saucy Sue, owned by Lord Astor, raced to victory here today in the coronation stakes, a feature event of the second day's royal Ascot program. It was Saucy Sue's third straight victory this year.

In spite of the cold, threatening weather British beauties again turned out in large numbers and paraded the paddocks hours before the races began.

Lord Derby created a surprise by scratching Pharos, a favorite for the royal hunt cup. He gave no reason.

Oarsmen From West Face Hardy Rivals of The East

Harvard and Yale Crews Meet Friday; Washington Will Try for Third Win Over the Field Monday.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 17.—There was a suspicion today, faint like the obligato of a distant violin, that the western dynasty over intercollegiate rowing may come to a sudden and altogether unexpected end before the passing of another week.

On Friday at New London, the Yale varsity, developed to rowing affluence by Ed. Leader, a young genius from the University of Washington, will race four miles against Harvard on Monday at Poughkeepsie, the University of Washington will attempt to make it three straight over the field.

Both Washington and Yale are and will so remain almost prohibitive favorites to win. Both may lose.

That, however, is merely a possibility. If even one of them fails to come through, it will be an upset worthy of a drop-bottom wagon. It is difficult to say just which of them faces the stronger possibility of defeat becaus it is so hard to imagine feat because it is so hard to imagine.

Yale has only one crew to beat and hasn't lost a race in three years under Leader. His eight is said to be as powerful as the combination that rowed the world silly at the Olympic games, although only three members of that outfit, Spock, Kingsbury and Captain Wilson, are available now. It is a crew that would seem to be destined to wear the purple only.

But the tip is out that Harvard has mustered a great crew, perhaps the greatest Harvard crew of twenty years. There is nothing in its 1925 record to indicate impending fame. The eight has simply found itself during the last three weeks.

All the signs point to less than a boat length separating the two at the finish, and when you have to draw them that fine, anything can happen. Ask the man who didn't know it was loaded.

Washington's greatest menace at Poukhkeepsie is furnished by the Navy, which is said to have summoned its best combination since its immortal 1920 crew. This, if true, means that the boat which beats the Navy will be the finest in the land and perhaps Washington fals a trifle short of that classification. It rowed a time trial in worse than 21 minutes yesterday and "rusty" Callow is alleged to have frothed at the mouth. The fact of tha matter is that Washington couldn't hope to show much in the rough water prevailing.

Its trouble, however, was that it didn't show enough. No crew will win the Poughkeepsie event in 21 minutes, even if the race was rowed in Molasses.

Tagging The Bases

In one of the wildest finishes ever seen at Forbes Field, the Pirates pulled out a 10-inning decision over the Giants, 13 to 11, on a pass to Cuyler, Barnhart's triple, Traynor's double and Wright's home run, after the Giants had tied the score in the ninth and taken a two-run lead in the tenth. It was the fifth straight defeat for the Giants.

Imbued with their frenzy of the preceding day, the Athletics ran amuck against Shaute in the first two innings and won from the Indians, 12 to 7.

The Reds took third place away from the doddering Dodgers by winning the ball game, 6 to 5, with successive two-run rallies in the eighth and ninth.

Our Mr. Ruth got his third homer of the campaign, but the Tigers beat the Yanks, 5 to 3, thanks to Whitehill's commendable pitching. It was the ninth time this season the Yanks have failed to carry a winning streak beyond two games.

The wind carried Flatstead's fly ball away from the fielders and in consequence the Red Sox beat the White Sox, 2 to 1, in a real old fashioned pitchers' battle between Ehmke and Robertson.

Managerial fists flew in all directions as the Cards made it four straight over the Phils, 6 to 4. Managers Fletcher and Hornsby engaged in an impromptu brawl and were ejected. It was the tenth straight defeat for the Phils.

The Braves pulled out a belated decision over the Cubs, 7 to 4, by beating about the bush for three runs in the thirteenth.

B.-W. NINE COPS CONTEST WITH WELLSVILLE, 8-5

Visitors Score Their Runs in Last Inning Rally.

Stiffling a dangerous rally launched by their opponents in the seventh inning, Babcock & Wilcox managed to finish in front of the Wellsville C. & P. nine last evening at Klondyke, 8 to 5.

The Oaklanders were leading when the clash went into the seventh inning. Up until that stage they had blanked the Wellsville nine in successive innings.

But the visitors suddenly found their batting eyes and fell on Morris for five hits, which, coupled with a costly error by McGonigal, produced five runs.

Morris settled down and stopped further damage.

The all-around playing of Rager in left field for Wellsville, and the hitting of Morris and Shipley, who led their respective teams with three bingles each, featured the game.

Stops your car Quicker! in 27 feet—going 20 miles an hour!

After a series of tests made on January 21, 1925, Mr. F. D. Wilson of the C. R. Wilson Body Company, Toledo, Ohio, signed this statement: "My Hupmobile, with two-wheel brakes, lined with Rusco Brake Lining, can be stopped, going 20 miles an hour in 27 feet."

That's how safe Rusco-lined, properly adjusted brakes will make your car. A lining will pass police inspection if it will stop in 35 feet going 20 miles an hour. Rusco stopped 8 feet quicker! With death ahead, 8 feet leeway is a godsend.

Rain or shine makes no difference to Rusco

RUSCO grips and holds just as well in wet weather as in dry. Turn the hose on Rusco-lined brakes. Then on any other kind. Water makes no difference to Rusco's stopping ability! Rusco is treated with a compound that makes it resist water, heat, oil, dirt and wear. Will not burn.

Your repair man pays more for Rusco than for other brands of lining, but he doesn't charge you more.

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you any other brand. When your brakes need relining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job. Have your brakes inspected and relined at any of the garages listed below. They are experts using special equipment for proper application of Rusco lining.

DODGERS NEXT ON PIRATE LOT

Brooklyn Will Open Four-game Series Today.

Just two and one-half games from the lead, and with no signs of a let-up, the onrushing Pittsburgh Pirates have successfully passed the long end of the present lengthy stay on the home grounds. Tabbed as the fastest team in the game by no less an authority than Muggsy McGraw, of the New York Giants, the Pirates have become the sensation of the league, and before the final game of the present long stay on the home lot should be either at the top of the league race or very close to it.

Brooklyn, with Dazzy Vance, is the last of the eastern clubs to appear at Forbes Field, playing today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the present week, following which series the Buccos jump over to St. Louis for four games with Rogers Hornsby's rejuvenated Cardinals. Then back to Forbes Field for three games in two days with the Cincinnati Reds, a single game being carded for Friday, June 26, and the first double-header of the season on Saturday, June 27. Saturday double-headers are a rarity at Forbes Field, especially with a club of the calibre of Cincinnati, and one of the greatest crowds of the season, no doubt, will be on hand to see this first double bill of the season. The first game will start at 2 p m.

Following a four-day trip to Cincinnati and Chicago, the Buccaneers return to the home field again on July 2 for the big Fourth of July series, single games being played on July 2 and 3, and morning and afternoon at 10:30 and 3 on the holiday. Cincinnati, always rated as one of the really strong teams of the National league, will again be the Pirates' opponents during this holiday series, furnishing entertainment de luxe. The Reds, with Eddie Roush, Pitcher Adolfo Luque, the temperamental Cuban, Pete Donohue and Rixey, all stars of the first magnitude, are a very colorful team, and there never is a dearth of excitement when they appear at Forbes Field.

Monday, July 6, following the Independence Day games, something very special is on tap for the fans at Forbes Field, for on that day Bucky Harris and his World Champion Washington Americans will oppose the Pirates in an exhibition game. The Washington club has shown signs of possibly again winning the American league pennant and will bring all their stars, who won the big series last fall, to Pittsburgh with them. It will mean something to the Pirates to win this game from the World champions, and Manager McKechnie states that his strongest team will be sent against the American leaguers.

There are seats for everybody at Forbes Field now, for the club management has thrown open the big new addition to the grandstand containing 12,000 general admission or $1.00 seats, all under cover. This will be welcome news to the fan who either does not care for reserved or box seats or who is unable to determine until the last minute whether or not he can take in the game. There always will be a seat for him at Forbes Field now. No more standing on the field in the sun for the general admission fans, and no more bad ball games resulting from a crowded playing field.

Seats for all the above games now are being sold by mail and a remittance, together with an addressed return envelope, directed to Forbes Field, will bring back the best seats available. Usual prices, $1.50 for box seats and $1.25 for reserved seats, tax included, prevail for all games.

Regular air mail service is to be established between Curaco and La Guaira, Venezula.

Yacht Defi From Lipton Expected

Sir Thomas Lipton's "Shamrock" makes a striking picture as she cuts through the water in the races at Southend, England. Sir Tom's renewed activities in yachting is leading Yankee sportsmen to believe he intends soon to issue another challenge for a race for the American cup.

WIN KANSAS CITY BENEFIT SCRAPS

KANSAS CITY, Kas., June 17.—Mike Ballerino, junior lightweight champion, and his co-invaders, Harry Wallach and Pete Sarmiento, today were carrying out of Kansas City everything that was pugilistically possible as a result of their fights as principals on the orphans' home fund card here last night. Of the three, only Wallach exerted himself and his temporary discomfitures seemed more due to a hesitancy to hit Harold Plude hard than from being at all pressed.

Sarmiento disposed of Joe Rivers, local Mexican bantam, in eight rounds of their scheduled 10-round bout, and Ballerino punished Billy Henry for 10 rounds, during which he hit Henry whenever the spirit moved him and gaily danced away from returns.

DODGERS NEXT ON PIRATE LOT

Brooklyn Will Open Four-game Series Today.

Just two and one-half games from the lead, and with no signs of a let-up, the onrushing Pittsburgh Pirates have successfully passed the long end of the present lengthy stay on the home grounds. Tabbed as the fastest team in the game by no less an authority than Muggsy McGraw, of the New York Giants, the Pirates have become the sensation of the league, and before the final game of the present long stay on the home lot should be either at the top of the league race or very close to it.

Brooklyn, with Dazzy Vance, is the last of the eastern clubs to appear at Forbes Field, playing today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the present week, following which series the Buccos jump over to St. Louis for four games with Rogers Hornsby's rejuvenated Cardinals. Then back to Forbes Field for three games in two days with the Cincinnati Reds, a single game being carded for Friday, June 26, and the first double-header of the season on Saturday, June 27. Saturday double-headers are a rarity at Forbes Field, especially with a club of the calibre of Cincinnati, and one of the greatest crowds of the season, no doubt, will be on hand to see this first double bill of the season. The first game will start at 2 p. m.

Following a four-day trip to Cincinnati and Chicago, the Buccaneers return to the home field again on July 2 for the big Fourth of July series, single games being played on July 2 and 3, and morning and afternoon at 10:30 and 3 on the holiday. Cincinnati, always rated as one of the really strong teams of the National league, will again be the Pirates' opponents during this holiday series, furnishing entertainment de luxe. The Reds, with Eddie Roush, Pitcher Adolfo Luque, the temperamental Cuban, Pete Donohue and Rixey, all stars of the first magnitude, are a very colorful team, and there never is a dearth of excitement when they appear at Forbes Field.

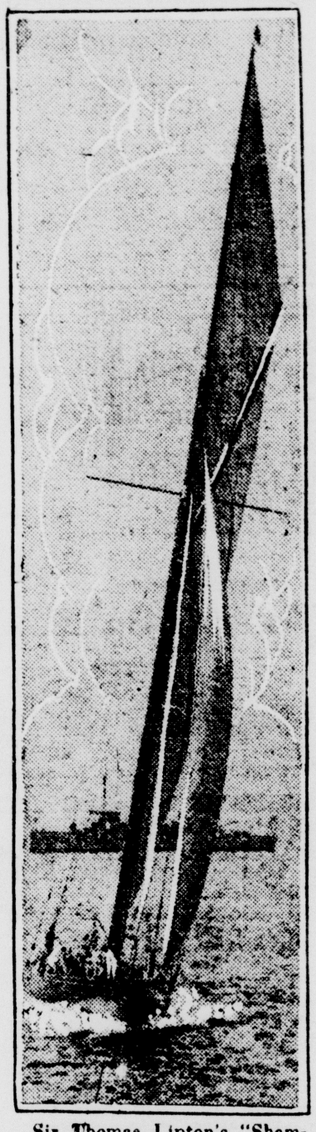
Monday, July 6, following the Independence Day games, something very special is on tap for the fans at Forbes Field, for on that day Bucky Harris and his World Champion Washington Americans will oppose the Pirates in an exhibition game. The Washington club has shown signs of possibly again winning the American league pennant and will bring all their stars, who won the big series last fall, to Pittsburgh with them. It will mean something to the Pirates to win this game from the World champions, and Manager McKechnie states that his strongest team will be sent against the American leaguers.

There are seats for everybody at Forbes Field now, for the club management has thrown open the big new addition to the grandstand containing 12,000 general admission or $1.00 seats, all under cover. This will be welcome news to the fan who either does not care for reserved or box seats or who is unable to determine until the last minute whether or not he can take in the game. There always will be a seat for him at Forbes Field now. No more standing on the field in the sun for the general admission fans, and no more bad ball games resulting from a crowded playing field.

Seats for all the above games now are being sold by mail and a remittance, together with an addressed return envelope, directed to Forbes Field, will bring back the best seats available. Usual prices, $1.50 for box seats and $1.25 for reserved seats, tax included, prevail for all games.

Regular air mail service is to be established between Curaco and La Guaira, Venezuela.

Yacht Defi From Lipton Expected



Sir Thomas Lipton's "Shamrock" makes a striking picture as she cuts through the water in the races at Southend, England. Sir Tom's renewed activities in yachting is leading Yankee sportsmen to believe he intends soon to issue another challenge for a race for the American cup.

WIN KANSAS CITY BENEFIT SCRAPS

KANSAS CITY, Kas., June 17.—Mike Ballerino, junior lightweight champion, and his co-invaders, Harry Wallach and Pete Sarmiento, today were carrying out of Kansas City everything that was pugilistically possible as a result of their fights as principals on the orphans' home fund card here last night. Of the three, only Wallach exerted himself and his temporary discomfitures seemed more due to a hesitancy to hit Harold Plude hard than from being at all pressed.

Sarmiento disposed of Joe Rivers, local Mexican bantam, in eight rounds of their scheduled 10-round bout, and Ballerino punished Billy Henry for 10 rounds, during which he hit Henry whenever the spirit moved him and gaily danced away from returns.

White House Cook Will Go to Swampscott With Coolidge

Executive Mansion Brand of Buckwheat Cakes and Two-inch Steaks Will Follow President on His Vacation.

WASHINGTON, June 17. — The White House brand of buckwheat cakes and two-inch steaks will follow President Coolidge to his summer establishment at Swampscott, Mass., it was revealed today.

Julia Jongbloet, that cook extraordinary whose culinary art as displayed at the famous White House breakfast table is reputed to have won more than one recalcitrant member of congress over to the administration cause, has been drafted for "foreign service."

When the president arrives at North Shore next week, Mrs. Jongbloet will be installed in the kitchen of "White Court." And she will be only one of a considerable part of the White House staff especially imported to serve the executive and Mrs. Coolidge.

Attending to Mrs. Coolidge's wardrobe and other effects will be Katherine Gwynn, her personal maid. John Jay, elongated butler, will be "doubling in brass" as barber and valet to Mr. Coolidge.

Office Force at Lynne.

Three miles away at Lynne, where the temporary executive offices are to be located, will be a highly efficient skeleton office force under the direction of Secretary to the President Everett Sanders. "Pat" McKenna, who knows and is known to every person of consequence who has visited the White House since 1903, will be on hand to weed out the undesirables and to see that those whose business warrants are interviewed.

Present also will be Erwin Geisser, personal stenographer to the president, and Miss Ellen E. Peck, stenographer to Edward T. Clark, the president's private secretary. Clark is planning to reach Swampscott later in the summer.

Handling the special telegraph wire that will link the Lynne office with the White House in Washington will be E. W. Smithers, chief operator at the executive offices here. "Doc," as he is called, was working a White House wire when the flash recounting the assassination of McKinley was received.

Forster is Liaison Officer

Major J. F. Coupal and Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone will be on hand to look after the health of the presidential party. Dr. Boone was with President Harding when he died, and Dr. Coupal had been constantly with Mr. Coolidge since he took office.

The presidential aides, Colonel S A. Cheney and Captain Adolphus Andrews, will be with the executive for all formal functions. Captain Andrews is leaving Washington this week with the presidential yacht Mayflower, which will be anchored off White Court throughout the stay there for such week-end cruises as the president may care to take

Remaining in Washington at the White House will be Rudolph Forster, executive clerk. Forster will serve as liaison officer between the federal departments here and the summer White House. By daily mail pouch and over the special wire, he will keep the president in constant touch with affairs of state and generally run the government by proxy.

New Garden Menace Creating Havoc in California Towns

SANTA ANA, Cal., June.—Residents of Santa Ana and Orange county who have gardens have been suffering from an attack by an army of helix asperia. Write your own plural, if you must have it.

Helix asperia is the Latin name for snail. This kind of snail is not as destructive as the helix pisana, which caused such havoc at La Jolla, San Diego county, a few years ago.

The Orange county animals (the dictionary says a snail is an animal, are of a grayish color, and have much fun exercising their appetites when they come upon a garden or young orchard, according to A. A. Brock, Orange county horticultural agent.

An auto horn sounds and also turns on light when the car runs too fast, has been introduced.

Glorious Birthday.
We're Improving.
Worth More Than Gold.
$500,000 for the Air.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Sunday was the one hundred and forty-eighth anniversary of the adoption by congress of Betsy Ross' flag, the Stars and Stripes. No one can deny that the flag has had 148 years of glory and decency.

It's a fine thing to go through 148 years never asking for anything that doesn't belong to you, and when forced to fight, always winning.

If advice could save, we should all be saved. President Lowell of Harvard says the world needs foresight, and tells seniors to "search for what is real truth."

What is truth, said jesting Pilate, and would not wait for an answer. How shall Harvard senior, gazing into the big world, like a chick fresh from its shell and still inside the incubator, know what the truth is?

Dr. Fosdick, another clergyman, says "the lawlessness of the American people is appalling."

Yet things have been worse. We have murderers, but fewer than one for every hundred thousand people. They had one in Adam and Eve's family, when there were only four human beings altogether. Cain killed his brother Abel cut down this population of the earth by 25 per cent.

Rev. Fosdick complains of our "jazz" in music, free verse in poetry, and morals 'do as you please." But what's all that compared to Sodom and Gommorrah?

We are doing well, compared with the ancients.

The American Society for the Control of Cancer is more cheerful than Dr. Fosdick. It reports excellent progress without that degree, getting knowledge more slowly.

But never in his life will be be able to make up that loss of sleep.

Remember, young gentleman, money gone, you can get it back. But nervous energy gone, through lack of sleep, you will never recover.

Daniel Guggenheim who has found a great fortune, underground, now gives to the University of New York $500,000 to be used in the air. His money will be spent especially on engineering problems connected with flying.

Anything that helps flying is good, and Daniel Guggenheim deserves public thanks. Posibly he will make a little more money and teach a thousand young Americans to fly.

President Coolidge orders flying as part of the course at Annapolis, and may issue a similar order.

Francis Scully Wins Patriotic Essay Contest.

More than 300 persons attended the Flag day exercises of Elks' lodge, No. 258, held last evening in the ball room of the lodge home in West Fifth street.

An inspirational patriotic address by Rev. W. H. Clark, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, musical selections, the lodge exercises, and the reading of the three prize winning essays in the Elks' contest for eighth grade pupils of the city, were high spots in the program.

Francis Scully, of the St. Aloysius parochial school, was awarded first prize for his essay on "The American Flag."

The second award was made to Leona Gordon and the third to Mary gress. Thousands of lives, now need-

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS MAY DEFER VOTE ON PASTORS' PLAN

Attorney General Delays Ruling on Religious Education.

FORCES LINE UP

Question Will be Discussed at Meeting Thursday.

Due to a delay in the receipt of a ruling from Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, upon the legality of the procedure, members of the board of education may defer final action on the proposal of the Ministerial association to use schoolrooms of the city for classes in religious education, when they meet in the high school building Thursday evening.

Board Will Hear Arguments.

Attorney J. H. Brookes, president of the board, has received a letter from the attorney general, informing him that a copy of a recent ruling by the United States supreme court upon a similar question, has been received at Columbus and as soon as the matter can be thoroughly investigated he will advise him. However, up to noon today no opinion had been received from Columbus.

Representatives of both sides — those favoring the use of the schools for the course and those opposed to it —will be heard by the board Thursday night. The Ministerial association, which is sponsoring the proposal, will be represented by Rev. Dr. Frank G. Fowler, Rev. L. J. Davison, Rev. B. R. Johnson and Rev. A. H. O'Brien. A committee of other citizens will urge the board refuse the pastors' request.

The Ministerial association contends that the course will be open only to students whose parents request it and that the classes will not interfere with children of other faiths. Opponents will argue that the schools are supported by taxpayers of all creeds and denominations and that schools or in-

MacMillan's Polar Dash Starts On Bunker Hill Day

Arctic Explorer Hopes to Rescue Amundsen-Ellsworth Flyers and Discover "Hidden Continent" North of Alaska.

BOSTON, June 17.—Commander Donald B. MacMillan's Polar dash got started today.

The intrepid Arctic explorer hopes to rescue the Amundsen-Ellsworth flyers in the far north, to discover a "hidden continent" north of Alaska, to plant the Stars and Stripes on it and to chart air routes above it.

The first step in the northward dash of MacMillan and his party was the sailing of the exploration steamer Peary from Boston navy yard at noon today.

The sailing of the Peary from historic Charlestown shore came on the 150th anniversary of the famous battle of Bunker Hill, which took place within a stone's throw of the navy yard. Thousands of visitors were at the yard.

Tendered "Farewell" Breakfast.

The weather was ideal. The program incidental to the sailing of the Peary, named after the discoverer of the North Pole, included a "farewell" breakfast to the commander and his men by the state of Massachusetts, tendered by Gov. Allen T. Fuller at a Boston hotel, and exercises at the navy yard on the deck of the famous naval frigate, Constitution.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore W. Robinson, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic society; United States Senator Butler, Speaker Gillett, Gov. Fuller and Mayor Curley were on the list of speakers at the navy yard exercises.

In the upper harbor, off the navy yard, stood six United States destroyers, which will escort the Peary to Wiscasett, Maine, to join MacMillan's auxiliary polar steamer, the Bow-

AMERICA DOES NOT NEED MORE DEMOCRACY, HUGHES DECLARES

Former Secretary of State Hits "Abuses and Tyrannies That May Bear Popular Labels," in Bunker Hill Address.

BOSTON, June 17.—America does not need more democracy so much as she needs more intelligent direction of the democracy already existing, Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, declared today in an address delivered in Faneuil Hall, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill.

Hughes spoke on the responsibilities that the Americans today should exercise under the heritage of freedom gained from "the hardy men" of revolutionary times.

He coupled with his address a new warning against radicalists "and abuses and tyrannies that may bear popular labels," but which, he said, are not designed to promote democracy, but to throttle it.

Learn Practice of Liberty

'We have fallen upon a time when it is not necessary to argue the right of self-government but to demonstrate the capacity for its exercise; not to invoke the name of liberty, but to learn the practice of liberty," Mr. Hughes said.

'Our fathers were men of peace and faithfully tried the processes of peace, but happily they were not Pacifists," he said. "If it could not be liberty and peace, then it should be war that men might still be free."

The government of King George, he said made the fatal blunder of answering arguments with troops and when these did not avail, passed additional extreme measures which troops were expected to enforce

WRECK DEATH TOLL MOUNTS; MAY REACH 50 BEFORE NIGHT

Rechecking Shows 43 Dead in Lackawanna Crash.

31 ARE INJURED

Three Investigations of Rockport, N. J., Smash-up Under Way.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 27.—The death toll in the Lackawanna train wreck mounted slowly upward today as three investigations got under way to fix responsibility for the catastrophe.

A rechecking of the casualties listed in half a dozen hospitals this morning fixed the dead at 43 and the injured at 31, with the probability existing that the dead may total 50 before nightfall. Some of those injured cannot survive, according to physicians.

Aside from the members of the train crew, most of whom came from Scranton, Pa., all of the dead and injured were from Chicago. They had left their homes Sunday on the special D. L. & W. train, bound for Hoboken, where they expected to sail on Tuesday for a long-awaited holiday in Germany. For some of the excursionists, the trip represented the saving and dream of a lifetime. All were of German descent, and many of them came to the United States years ago as immigrants.

Aboard the United States liner Republic are 143 of the approximately 250 tourists, many of whom were treated aboard ship by surgeons for injuries received in the crash

WHITNEY WINS IN NEW JERSEY

Named G. O. P. Nominee for Governor; Moore Dems' Choice.

TRENTON, N. J., June 17.—New Jersey Republicans have nominated State Senator Arthur Whitney, of Mendham, for the governorship, it was disclosed today in fairly complete returns from yesterday's state-wide primary.

The Democratic nomination went to City Commissioner A. Harry Moore, of Jersey City, without opposition.

Estimates based upon returns this morning indicated Whitney's plurality over his two opponents, ex-Attorney General Thomas F. McCran, of Paterson, and ex-Judge Cornelius Doremus, of Ridgewood, would come close to 25,000. The voting generally was light. McCran ran second and Doremus a poor third.

The figures were: Whitney, 123,560; McCran, 97,280; Doremus, 46,924.

The districts not reported are mainly in remote sections, where the voting is not heavy, and they will not materially affect the standing.

The wet-and-dry issue and religious differences entered the Republican contest to considerable degree. McCran is a catholic and avowedly anti-prohibition. He polled a large vote in the cities and industrial sections, but Doremus, a pronounced dry, was snowed under.

The defeat of McCran marks a defeat also for Senator Walter E. Edge, the Republican leader of New Jersey, who had sponsored and promoted his candidacy.

LATE WARREN STONE'S RIGHT HAND MAN NAMED TO SUCCEED HIS CHIEF

Brotherhood Presidency Carries With it Not Only Leadership of Labor Union With More Than 100,000 Members, But Wields Tremendous Power in Financial World.

GRIFFING IS NAMED FIRST VICE PRESIDENT; JOHNSON IS GRAND CHIEF

Born in Philadelphia and Educated in Belfast, Ireland, New Leader Began Firing on Grand Trunk Railway in Canada in 1874 — Elected Grand Engineer in 1924.

By WILLIAM J. HUSKE.

CLEVELAND, June 17.—William B. Prenter, 70, for years the right hand man of Warren S. Stone, today took up the duties of the president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, laid down by his late chief last Friday with his sudden death.

The office carries with it not only the headship of a compact and highly organized labor union of more than 100,000 members, but wields a tremendous power in the financial world through the control of banks in New York, Cleveland, Boston and many other cities throughout the United States.

The advisory board, consisting of the first and second vice presidents, grand chiefs and nine assistant grand chiefs, made the selection. It was felt, they explained, that inasmuch as Prenter has been Stone's closest adviser in the pioneer years of the venture of the organization into Wall street and the financial world, he was the man best fitted to "carry on" until the members of the order, when they meet in 1927 in triennial convention, select their own man to fill the post.

May Not Seek Re-election

It was said by members of the board that it was improbable that at that time Prenter would be a candidate to succeed himself.

NEW EXECUTIVE 70 YEARS OLD

WILLIAM B. PRENTER

of the order since the convention of 1924, was named as first vice president to succeed Prenter.

A. Johnson, of Superior, Wis., assistant grand chief, was elected grand chief.

Later today a new assistant will be named for this office.

Carry Out Stone's Policies.

Prenter was born in Philadelphia in 1855. He was educated in Belfast, Ireland, going to Canada, when still in his youth, and began firing on the Grand Trunk railway in 1874.

In 1904, Prenter was elected first grand engineer of the brotherhood, and in 1921 was named as general secretary-treasurer. In 1924 he was elected first vice-president.

He had been the right hand man of the late president in the development of the Brotherhood co-operative bank, and other enterprises growing out of the successful foray of the organization into the fields of high finance. He hmas served as vice-president and cashier of the co-operative bank here, is a director of the Empire Trust company, New York. He also holds positions in most of the companies organized by the Brotherhood in carrying out its new financial policies.

"The Stone policies will be carried out," was the brief official announcement which accompanied the words of the choice of a new head. "We will continue along the lines that have proven so successful in the past, not only in our dealings with the railroads but in other relations.'

DRASTIC BONE DRY LAW CURBS ACTIVITIES OF HOOSIER STATE BOOTLEGGERS; VIOLATORS ARE SEARCHED, JAILED AND GIVEN HEAVY FINES

EDITORS' NOTE—Indiana's new "bone dry" prohibition law has attracted nation-wide interest, owing to its drastic provisions, generally acknowledged the most severe of any on the statute books of any other state in the union. The law has been bitterly excoriated and as ardently extolled; it has drawn the withering verbal fire of many nationally-known persons and the vigorous championing of equally well-known celebrities, with the result that it has drawn unusual interest from all over the country.

By J. L. MEDDOFF.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 17.—Indiana's new liquor law—"bone dry," they call it—today occupies the center of national interest in prohibition enforcement.

Its provisions are drastic—even revolutionary. The drys champion the law as ideal for the purpose for which it was created and its proponents unhesitatingly declare that it will strip the liquor question of its hypocricy and place prohibition on its merits as a reality.

On the other hand, many consider the law is imperialistic. They contend it flagrantly violates every article of the bill of rights and tears into the very heart of the federal constitution.

Law Effective.

From the standpoint of the neutral observer, the law is producing results in a manner indicating that the state soon may experience an era of real prohibition in which few citizens will dare run the risk of arrest.

The inescapable facts in this case, taken from official government records here, are these:

Indiana's new liquor law has been in effect slightly more than one month.

For the first five months of this year, during which time the old law was in force, a total of 370 arrests were made for prohibition violations. In the first month that the "bone-dry" law was operative a total of 267 arrests were made for prohibition violations.

Sentences of those convicted under the old law during the first five months of 1925 totaled 161 years. Sentences of those convicted in the single month the new law has been in effect totaled 67 years.

Total fines of liquor-law violators during the first five months of the current year under the old law were $53,617. Fines assessed violators of the new law in the first month of its existence aggregated $27,156.

A sample of the dractic manner in which the new law deals with what previously was a minor liquor offense follows:

Under the old law a person arrested on a public street or in a public place for drunkenness could be fined NOT less than $1 nor more than $5 for the first offense and also for the second offense. It was NOT until he committed the third offense that he could be sent to jail, and then only for a short time.

Jail Sentence.

Today arrest for intoxication carries a minimum fine of $10 and a maximum of $100, plus a jail sentence of from one month to six months. On only one condition is the court empowered to show leniency and lessen this penalty—when the prisoner reveals the name of the person from whom he obtained the liquor.

The increase in arrests and convictions has been made possible by two sharp teeth in the new law. The biggest, keenest and sharpest of these two teeth is the provision against the mere possession of liquor.

Under the old law the possession of liquor was NOT punishable, the State Supreme Court having ruled that portion of it out on a legal technicality and declaring it unconstitutional. Thus, under the old Federal law, agents could raid a home only when there was evidence of a sale.

Under the new law, however, things are radically different. Possession constitutes a serious crime in itself and is punishable for the first and second offenses with a $100 to $500 fine and a jail sentence of from one to six months. A third offense is a felony and is punishable with a one to five-year sentence.

May Raid Homes

And also, under the new law, Federal agents may enter and raid a suspected home on State search warrants to get evidence of possession, provided they are accompanied by state officers, or if they are deputized as constables.

The officers now do not have to carry into court any of the liquor alleged to have been in the possession of an arrested person. Containers with the mere odor of liquor and the testimony of the officers that they smelled liquor are prima facie evidence, under the "bone-dry" law, of the operation of a "blind tiger."

The second sharp tooth in the new law is the provision making the pur-

GORE SUGGESTS NEW STATE ROAD

Governor Wants Route to Begin at New Cumberland.

Governor Howard M. Gore, winding up an inspection trip of the roads in the upper panhandle district of the state stated last evening before leaving for New Martinsville, that a north and south highway, linking the far ends of the state, will be one of the first road building projects he will outline on his return to the capital.

The governor will give the panhandle access to the central and southern sections of the state by connecting and improving highways already existing. He proposes a route as follows: New Cumberland to Wellsburg, to Wheeling, to Moundsville, to Cameron, to Mannington, to Fairmont, to Clarksburg; thence west over the old Staunton turnpike through Dodridge Ritchie and Wood counties to Parkersburg; thence south through Wirt, Roane and Kanawha counties to Charleston; thence south to Bluefield. Much of the improvements along this route will come out of the reserve fund.

In discussing road conditions yesterday the governor recognized serious defects in the state road law. The system has been deplorably localized, he stated. But he is hopeful of being able to speed up construction throughout the state despite the fact that he has only a comparatively small amount of money available at this time.

Linking of existing roads wherever possible while new construction is going forward is one of the plans of the governor to extend the mileage as far as possible.

STATE CONVICTS TO WORK ROADS

A tentative contract providing for the use of about 500 Moundsville prisoners on road work has been submitted to the state road commission by the moard of control, J. Walter Barnes said yesterday. He added that the contract had not yet been returned to the board, but it is thought some such proposal will be accepted. The use of convict labor on state roads was authorized by the last legislature.

Members of the board of control, together with Warden S. P. Smith, are anxious to relieve the congestion at the state prison. Last week a new record was established when 1,749 prisoners were enrolled. Again and again within the last year therecord has been broken, and there is a prospect that a still higher record will be established this week with the arrival of prisoners from Cabell county.

As there are only 820 cells in the prison, it has been necessary to use cots in the factory and to put two or more men in each of a large majority of the cells. This condition has brought forth many complaints from the prisoners during the hot weather.

Joy Rider Escapes Death Five Times In Borrowed Auto

TAUNTON, Mass., June.—If the movie camera men had been along when Timothy McCarthy, twenty-three, of Boston, out of work and needing "something to stimulate his blood," borrowed an automobile, they would have got a film worth recording.

Chased by four policemen, who fired several shots, Timothy crashed into two automobiles and a telegraph pole.

The gastank exploded, firing the wrecked automobile and another automobile.

McCarthy, unhurt, fled from the wreckage, ran along the railroad tracks and escaped death under the wheels of an express train by a hair's breadth.

Finally he was captured by police and locked up.

YOU have heard a great deal about Chandler performance.

You know that a Chandler broke all speed and stamina records when it sped 1000 miles in 689 minutes; that not even specially designed cars have been able to reduce Chandler's record-breaking dash to the top of Mount Washington.

You have heard that you can't clash gears in a Chandler—

We invite you to verify all this. We urge you to accept our offer to provide you with a demonstrator any afternoon or evening.

COUNCIL CUTS POLICE FORCE

Ordinance Abolishing J. L. McDevitt's Job Passed.

J. L. McDevitt, for 14 years a member of the Wellsville police force, today faces the loss of his job as a result of ordinances passed on first reading last night by council, providing for the abolition of the post of city hall officer and the creation of a new place, to be known as city hall janitor, at a salary of $60.

The action comes as a surprise move to police department heads and several members of council. Although economy measures have been in order constantly, it was not expected that such action would be taken.

Mayor James S. Barnes today announced in emphatic terms that he will veto the two ordinances. In this event, council probably will attempt to pass it over his head.

J. L. McDevitt today asked:

"Is this the reward for 14 years of constant service?"

The two ordinances were presented by the ordinance committee, including Councilmen Connor, Kerr and Baker. Councilmen Connor, Peters, White, Baker, Kerr and Nicholson voted for the two ordinances. Councilman Ewing voted against the two ordinances.

Three "economy ordinances" affecting the police department were presented, but only the two were acted on. The first ordinance provided for the abolition of the post of traffic policeman.

Inasmuch as there is no traffic policeman, in the true sense of the term, such a post could not be abolished, and consequently the ordinance was turned back to the ordinance committee.

Patrolman Arthur Newton, who operates the motorcycle in use by the city police department, is a member of the regular police force and does not hold a traffic officer post.

The second ordinance up called for the abolition of the post of city building policeman. It passed by a 6 to 1 vote. Ewing alone opposing it.

The third ordinance provided for the creation of the post of city hall janitor. A 6 to 1 vote passed this measure, with the balloting standing the same as on the previous ordinance.

There was little discussion from anyone following the reading of the two ordinances.

ASK FUNDS FOR HAMMOND PARK

Asserting that it would be desirable to further improvement work on Hammond park, City Solicitor George Ingram last night asked city council to consider the appropriation of funds for this purpose. The request was referred to the finance committee.

A resolution to establish a new grade on Second street, primarily for the purpose of permitting property owners to get away from high water conditions, it is said, was passed by the solons.

Several Chester avenue property owners requested council to establish a grade in order that they may make improvements.

Clerk George Hardman was instructed to go to Lisbon and obtain property records concerning holdings of residents along the alley between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, paralleling Main and Riverside, and the alley between Fourteenth street and Johnson place.

The city auditor's report follows: General fund, $968.35; safety, $52.28 (overdrawn); health, $302.75; service $1,206.53; water, $3,881.49; cemetery, $1,746.27; library, $664.39; special water, $16,828.16; auto license, $8,794.65; cemetery trust, $9.72; final retainer fund, $124.23; singing fund $30,542.39.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Lower Postal Revenues

The postoffice department finds its receipts diminishing when they were expected to increase. The receipts in 50 selected postoffices, which turn in more than half of the country's total postal receipts, are said to have fallen off more than $20,000 a day in the last few weeks.

The rates on various classes of mail matter were raised on April 15 to take care of the wage increase given postal employes.

There is no convincing evidence of a drop in general business activity accounting for this loss. Business is well sustained. It looks, from the evidence so far, as if the drop in receipts is due rather to the higher postage rate.

This need not cause surprise. It is the same natural law that appears in the income tax discussions. In taxation, as in land cultivation, there is what economists call "a point of diminishing returns," beyond which higher rates are useless.

The Eternal Now

Warren S. Stone, so long president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who has just died, had an unusual motto to live by. It was "The Eternal Now" preached so eloquently half a century ago by Thomas Carlyle.

It is a striking phrase, and a true one. It drives home the everlasting fact that in spite of memories of the past and dreams of the future, all that we have to live in is the present. Life is slipping, moment by moment, from the future eternity into the past eternity, and only the moment between is ours to think and act. It is this ever-changing moment that shapes the single life and affects human destiny.

The dreamer who uses up his present in dwelling on the past or future does nothing, gets nowhere, creates neither work nor character. That is the teaching of the old Scottish philosopher, on which Mr. Stone shaped his life.

"Work while it is called today, for the morrow cometh wherein no man can work." That is a more famous expression of the same philosophy.

Yet there is a limit to all things. The good, driven to excess, may become bad. Warren S. Stone was accustomed to labor 18 hours a day. He accomplished a great work, and he lived to a fair length of years, as human lives go; yet with his vigor he might have gone farther and done more if he had not ridden his ideal so hard. Physicians say he "died of overwork."

That is never justifiable save in a great cause; and even a great cause may be bettter served by occasional leisure than by everlasting exertion and strain. The man who takes time to relax along with his work, and think forward and back, is apt to see more clearly and waste less effort.

Two Normal Blind Boys

Two of the diplomas handed to the graduating class at the demonstration high school of the Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge went to blind boys. These boys had taken the first two years of their high school work at a school for the blind. Then they entered the public high school and completed the regular courses of the two final years with other normal students.

Handicap seems hardly a word to apply to their blindness. The two boys held their own very well in school. Some one read their lessons to them daily. They did their written work on typewriters. Mathematics proved a puzzling problem at first. Then one of the two blind students devised a plan of fastening a half-inch rubber band to a clip board and drawing their geometric figures with that aid. They used their finger-tips to feel the lines and they did their algebraic figuring mentally.

It was a fine and plucky thing for those boys to go to a reglar high school and work right along with normal pupils. Such examples of courage and ability on the part of blind persons are increasing year by year. They are demonstrating to the rest of the world that physical handicaps are small matters so long as there is no spiritual handicap of self-doubt or fear.

Scattered Libraries

The library board in a city which is not large, but considerably spread out, proposes to build five libraries. Here is an idea quite different from the old plan of a single library in the business center of a city.

The library business has gone far since the early days of Carnegie libraries. Large cities nowadays usually maintain a big central library with branches in the outer sections to serve their own neighborhoods. But it is a notable evidence of the new method when a city with a liberal sum of money at its disposal undertakes to build several moderate-sized libraries at once, instead of a single monumental structure to serve later as the mother of a brood of smaller ones.

The decentralization of libraries is a fine indication of the wide diffusion of books and the democratization of the library system. Libraries are far more widely used, and far more useful, than they were decade or two ago, because books are being taken to the people instead of waiting for the people to come to the books.

Those idle ships the government build would make fine houseboats, if they could be got up the navigable rivers the government has dredged.

When you think back a baker's dozen years in politics, it does seem sort of inglorious to read of a bull moose in the New York zoo being broken in to give children buggy rides.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 17.—He is a crook de luxe. Broadway knows him by a fancy nonenclature suggesting sartorial elegance. He has been arrested in London, Paris and New York but manages to outwit the law. So he has become one of the cafe dandies.

He is foppish in dress even to cuff buttons matching his colored shirt. And along the lane where scandal and crime are sometimes glorified he is quite a figure yet he has the look of the hunted and despite his savoir-faire he seems to be most unhappy.

My introduction to him came through one of those breezy Broadwayites who knows everybody and likes to show it. "That's Dude Dave"—which is not the name but near it—he wispered "come on and meet him." Another name such as Smith was given to him.

I found an extreme poseur. Most of his friends, it was easy to see, were sycophants and hew as used to flattery. He was pleased to talk of women. He liked casually to mention this stage star and that as though they were intimates instead perhaps mere fugitive acquaintances.

He spoke of his bachelor quarters here and in Europe, of his important friends—a certain marquis and a Parisian journalist. All the time his glances roved uneasily about the room and one cigarette after the other was consumed nervously.

Now and then he took daintily tinted letters from his pocket as though he would like for us to read them and although he sought to give the idea of many romantic amours you got the idea that in reality he contented himself with the romantic diversions of a river bargeman on Saturday night.

Such persons wil always find a certain following on Broadway among those ready to lift a hat to bourgeois idols, knowing them false, hypocritical and heartless. But what does it matter so long as they pay for dinners and drinks?

About 20 out of 300 plays presented on Broadway each season are hits. This is why theatrical producing is perhaps the most hazardous of all endeavors. Without cut-rate ticket agencies many plays would collapse much sooner than they do. Joe LeBlang, who has made his millions cut-rating, is an "angel" in more ways than one. He not only fills empty rows, gives the public lower than box office prices but often backs a show and saves frenzied managers from being gazetted in the bankruptcy courts.

She was a drug store blonde with a sprinkling of gold teeth and a coon-shouting voice. Her escort was rather mild mannered but it seems she was paying especial attention to another man in the party.

Finally he said in his deepest tones: "I wash you would stop making yourself conspicuous with that person."

"All right,' said the blond, "but for heaven's sake be yourself and stop baritoning me."

When the Hotel Ansonia was built above 72d street, it was dubbed "Stokes' Folly." Too far up-town, was the cry yet a real estate shark declares that in ten years the hotel zone of Manhattan will be above Columbus Circle. It can safely be said to be above 42nd street just now. And either hotels follow theatres or vice versa for the theatrical zone in the past 20 years has skipped from fourteenth street far beyond 42nd.

Gilda Gray, it appears, is not to have her intimate theatre after all. Her husband Gil Boag bought the site and started work on the structure. In the meantime Gilda began a shimmy tour across the continent and the rewards were so great that she may not be seen here for several years.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

An Old Road To Baltimore.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—It is 40 miles and as many minutes by fast train from Washington to Baltimore. By automobile it is approximately the same distance over a perfect roadway and many machines make it in an hour. Rum runners have been known to do better—or worse. By boat it is almost 300 miles and a trip of 40 hours—two nights and a day.

This trip by steamer from the National Capital to Marylands metropolis, so little known to tourists and, indeed, to many residents of Washington and Baltimore, hae been described as a dip into the pages of the chronicles of a nation in its making, a little journey through a country teeming with riches of history and tradition. It is all of that and more, for its scenic beauties are such as to delight the eye and whet the jaded interest of the most blase of globe trotters. Its every stage reveals new settings of romance that fire the imagination and intrigue the artistic temperament.

As the trip is arranged it makes a delightful and convenient week-end outing, for one leaves either city late Saturday afternoon and lands in the other bright and early Monday morning. Its surprising length is due to the fact that the steamers carry freight as well as passengers and make numerous side journeys up the many estuaries of the lower Potomac and the lower part of Chesapeake Bay, reaching towns and settlements that have never known a railroad and depend almost entirely upon water transportation. The automobile is the only competition of the steamers in the greater part of this territory.

Embarking at Washington, the traveler takes the boat in the harbor at the foot of Seventh street and he will have a busy half hour's sightseeing before the vessel leaves the wharf. On the east, north and northwest he has a magnificent view of the city, while on the west and immediate south are the tidal basin, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the beautiful Potomac Park and the public golf links. Beyond, to the south, is the main river and across that are the hills of Virginia with the great Arlington National Cemetery and its splendid marble amphitheatre; the Doric mansion, dating from 1802, that was once the home of Robert E. Lee, and the great aerials of the Naval Radio station.

Barracks and War College.

Immediately on the left as the boat moves down the harbor lies the Federal Reservation, established in 1797, which is occupied by the Washington Barracks, with an arsenal, officers' quarters, a fine parade ground, and the War College, dominating the point formed by the junction of the Potomac and the Anacostia rivers. It was in the mouth of the latter stream that Captain John Smith bartered with the Indians for beaver skins in 1608, a year after he left the settlement at Jamestown and sailed into the great river to the north to which he gave the name of Patowomek. The mouth of the Anacostia is now marked by the big hangars of the Naval Aviation station, lying at the foot of the hill which is surrounded by the famous St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane.

The steamer's first stop is at historic Alexandria, which was laid out by Lord Fairfax and Lawrence Washington in 1748, and a mile beyond a small frame lighthouse marks Jones Point, where on April 15, 1791, George Washington set the initial cornerstone to mark the newly created District of Columbia.

Steaming onward between the hills on either side of the river, which is rather narrow here, the tourist gets glimpses of two fortified posts of the government that illustrate more than a century of military history. On the left one sees the high stone walls and glowering portholes of old Fort Washington, built in 1808 and destroyed by the British in 1814, and now occupied by modern batteries, while on the right bank is Fort Hunt, equipped with disappearing guns and low earthworks. Just around a bend from Fort Washington is the wide mouth of the Piscataway creek, where in 1634 Leonard Calvert anchored his ship and held a council with the Indians. Then the steamer continues for about four miles past Washington's wonderful Mount Vernon estate on the right, and on the left, the yellow buildings of the great fish hatcheries of the United States Fish Commission.

Indian Head Proving Grounds.

Near the mouth of Dogue Creek, which marked the end of Washington's property, is the site of Belvoir, once the home of Lord Fairfax, which was burned during the Revolution, and next, after rounding the mouth of Gunston Cove, one sees on a hilltop the old brick building known as Gunston Hall, built in 1758 of bricks brought from England, by George Mason, author of the Virginia Bill of Rights.

Forty miles from Washington, on the Maryland side, lies the wooded headland on which is located the Indian Head Proving Grounds, a government reservation of 2,000 acres, used as a testing place for steel armor plate, naval guns, projectiles and powder.

Crossing the Potomac again the boat passes the mouth of Belmont Bay, near which lies Camp Humphries, an engineers' training camp during the World war, and just below that is Neabsco creek, interesting chiefly because on a hillside there the oldest tombstone in the United States was found in 1837. It bore the inscription: "Here lies ye body of Lieutenant William Herris, who died May ye 16th, 1608, aged 065 years, by birth a Britain, a good soldier, a good husband and neighbor." It is believed that Herris was of Captain John Smith's party.

It is impossible to give more than a hint of the numerous points of interest that now crowd either bank of the river. There is Widewater, the favorite fishing ground of Grover Cleveland when he was president, and the scene of one of the earliest achievements in aerial navigation, for it was here that Langley made his first demonstration of a heavier than air flying machine almost 30 years ago. There is Marlboro Point, where was located the Indian village where Pocahontas was sold in 1614 by her kinsman to Captain Argall, of Jamestown Island for a copper kettle and a few glass beads.

There are the small white house where Dr. Mudd set the broken leg of Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth; Morgantown and the famous Crain stock farm; Colonial Beach, once the home of "Lighthorse Harry" Lee and now a modern summer resort and the home of jazz; Popes Creek and Wakefield, with the monument that marks the birthplace of George Washington; Monroe Bay, near which President Monroe was born; Bushwood, with the large yellow brick structure erected away back in 1634; Chaptico Church, designed by Sir Christopher Wren of St. Paul's (London) fame, built in 1735 following a mission church established in 1694; Blackistone Island, once St. Clement's, where Calvert made his first landing when he sailed up the Potomac in 1634; a graveyard that haas been used for 240 years; quaint old Leonardtown, named for the fourth Lord Baltimore; Piney Point, another modern summer resort; the many inandings on the Yeocomico and Coan rivers; Priests Point and the plantations that have been the property of the Order of Jesus since 1653; St. Mary's, with the greatest wealth of tradition and memories of all—where Lord Calvert purchased from the Indians the site of the first capital of the colony of Maryland.

And then the steamer plows its way out of the Potomac and rounds Point Lookout into Chesapeake Bay. Fewer stops are made now, but there is Solomon's Island, at the mouth of the Patuxent, up which the British sailed when they captured and burned Washington a century and more ago, and during the night one passes Kent Island; Annapolis, the old-new capital of Maryland, and Fort McHenry, over the ramparts of which Francis Scott Key saw the Star Spangled Banner, in the dawn's early light, still waving over the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Paris says 'shorter skirts' this summer.

Reduce your ankles and legs with DR FOLTS soap
.....Dr. Folts soap is the up-to-date way to reduce arms, legs, hips, double chin.
Why should you turn to diets, exercise or drugs—now that a positive and ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS EXTERNAL way to melt excess fat from any part of the body without affecting other parts, is offered to you? To quickly get ideal slender lines all you need to do is to wash every night from five to ten minutes the parts you wish to reduce, with a good lather of DR. FOLTS' SOAP (but be sure to get the original reducing soap—DR. FOLTS'. Avoid imitations, "so-called just as good"). Dr. Folts' Soap, the original reducing soap, has for the last two years proven that it could really reduce fat people.
This soap, as soon as applied, is absorbed by the tissues, and suppresses excessive fat without any possible chance of harming the most delicate skin. It has been found ideal to get rid of double chins, because the skin is not left flabby or wrinkled after the reducing. Fat men and women are now using this wonderful soap with amazing results. Reductions of several inches in hips and bust are of common occurrence every day. Try it yourself. Go to any good drug or department store, get DR. FOLTS' SOAP (beware of imitations). If your druggist is out of it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler, or you can send a check or money order direct to the Scientific Research Laboratories, 350 W. 31st St., N. Y. C. DR. FOLTS' SOAP sells for 50 c. a cake, three for $1.20.

CROWD HEARS DR. L. W. TUCKER

Book of Revelations Discussed at Baptist Church.

Utilizing a colored chart of large dimensions Dr. Leon W. Tucker, of New York City, entranced an almost capacity audience with a pictorial presentation of the book of Revelations at the First Baptist church last evening.

That there are days of tribulation imminent for the earth was the outstanding affirmation of the lecturer. "I wish I could be optimistic in all my assertions," he said. "But truth impels a pessimistic expectation because of sin.'

But there will be no judgment for those who "are in Christ," he explained. The prophecy of dire happenings in this final book of Holy Writ are for those without His fold, those who are turning God's grace into lasciviousness. The prophetic order of judgment will not admit of an evolution of things minus these ominous clouds.

Dr. Tucker spoke of the two strange figures in these tribulation days, mentioned as two olive trees which some contend will be Moses and Elijah or Enoch and Elijah. Of their identity nothing could be accurately surmised.

The world is against every Christian; 1 would every Christian were against the world," he commented. "It is the duty of Christians to stand back of the few men who are supporting the word of God."

Dr. Tucker declared that the book of Revelations lifted a veil so that people may know what shall be in the future. "It, as the last book of the Bible, does what the first said it would do."

Final Service in U. P. Church.

Announcement was made by Rev A. H. O'Brien that the final service of the present engagement of Dr. Tucker and party here would be held in the First United Presbyterian church at Sixth and Jefferson streets on Thursday night, so as to accommodate the large attendance expected. The meeting on Wednesday night, however, will be held in the First Baptist church, as usual.

In the afternoon Mrs. Jessie McKee Coons continued her meetings, begun last week, in the interest of the promotion of prayer.

Dr. Tucker announced his purpose of publishing another periodical in the interest of Bible study and evangelization some time this year, which will be augmented by perhaps a fourth later on. Those now being published by him are: "Broadcasting Radio," launched last July, and "The Wonderful Word," which has been appearing for the past 17 years.

It was announced also that the party would rest for three weeks following the engagement next week in Harding, Ark., Dr. Tucker, however, will go for a day or two to Danville, Ill., Miss Cora Belle Young, the violinist, will aid in a temperance campaign there; Mrs. Coons and her daughter, Evelyn McKee Coons, the harpist, will spend the interim at Lake Champlain, while Miss Allie May Schmidt will visit her parents in St. Louis, Mo.

The party will reassemble at Binghampton, N. Y., on July 27.

Preceding the discourse of Dr. Tucker, Miss Alice May Schmidt repeated by request the song, "Marvelous Grace;" Miss Coons contributed a harp selection from "Tales of Hoffman," while Miss Young gave "Blessed Lights of Home" on the violin.

"The Last Visit of Satan on Earth Prior to His Imprisonment" will be Dr. Tucker's subject on Wednesday night, while on Thursday evening his theme will be: "The Social and Sex Situation in the Sight of God."

"The Holy City" will also be repeated by the musical trio on Wednesday night, Miss Schmidt being the soloist.

lessly sacrificed, would be saved if people were informed and would keep away from quacks. The society denies the statement recently made at a convention of doctors that "nobody really knows anything about cancer."

"Cancer is not contagious or inherited," says the American society. Take the cancer in the beginning, when it is only local.

Peter Dutka, ambitious Czecho-Slovakian, came here at 30, worked in coal mines, saved money, and learned English. He already spoke five other languages. He went to Pennsylvania State college, studied until 4 a. m. daily in the morning, cut his sleep to three or four hours, and he gets his degree.

Those that give it to him will see a determined, emaciated man, his weight cut down 26 pounds for lack of sleep. He will be praised, and deserves it.

But, he could have done as well Helen Smith. They are also parochial school pupils.

Each of the authors read his or her own essay from the stage of the auditorium in connection with the services.

Cash awards of $15, $10 and $5, respectively, were made to the three pupils.

The services opened with introductory exercises by William Robinson, acting as exalted ruler, and lodge officers, including C. E. Gruber, A. B. Scott, James Thompson, Albert Hohman and T. Gerald Ryan. Prayer by Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church, followed.

The Elks' altar service were performed by Esquire T. Gerald Ryan and lodge officers. Tribute to the flag was given by William Robinson.

"Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung by Edward Adams, "The Americans Come," by Hugh Hamill, and "When the Flag Goes By," by a male chorus of 10 voices, were musical features of the program arranged by Miss Lysbeth Hamill.

Rev. Clark's address centered on the "Stars and Stripes." He referred to the flag as a real emblem of liberty and freedom and urged a true American spirit in keeping with this banner.

through the secretary of war, for West Point.

If Mr. Guggenheim and others will encouarge industrial flying as President Coolidge is encouraging naval and military flying the most important problems in national safety will be solved.

Gertrude Ederle, a young American woman planning to swim the English channel, yesterday swam from New York city to Sandy Hook, 18 miles in less than 8 hours. She fought the tide during the last hour of her swim, and finished, apparently, not fatigued. She goes to England Wednesday and will train for the channel swim with Jabez Wolf, famous British veteran, who several times has tried and failed to make the great swim.

Gertrude, Ederle, only 19, has broken many swimming records. Pity that her magnificent vitality should be wasted on the channel. Nancy Hanks, six feet tall, was perhaps as powerful as Miss Ederle. She produced Abraham Lincoln, and that was better than swimming across the Pacific ocean.

Careful inquiry in restaurants shows that corned beef and cabbage is the favorite food of the New York American. Four thousand five hundred and twelve votes behind came the vegetable dinner. Nevertheless, corned beef, excellent for those that live by their muscles, is not good for thinkers.

Any process that makes decay difficult also makes digestion difficult. While your stomach is struggling with corned beef or salt pork your brain cannot do its best. We think and digest with the blood. It can't be in two places at once.

Germany is agitated. The great Stinnes house, its heirs quarreling among themselves, appears close to bankruptcy. Other concerns totter. Thorough Germans will make an intensive census and see just how they stand.

In one way they stand well. Butchery of the mark has wiped out their internal debt. The Germans as a nation owe nothing except what they owe the allies.

Payments to the allies amounting to only 160 odd million dollars a year at first, less than $3 per German per year, will not strain the resources of such a country.

An intensive census of England and France might show conditions more alarming than in Germany. Luckily for the British, when war began the other countries of the world owed British investors thirty-five thousand million dollars. English capitalists held foreign securities for that amount. During the war that was cut down by half at least.

The British government is rich, it has great resources, and knows how to lay and collect taxes. The British people are harassed with taxation, and feel poor.

In France it is the other way around. The French government is poor, finds it difficult to collect taxes. The French people, on the other hand, their exports far in excess of their imports, are as individuals, more prosperous than the British people.

We are the fortunate ones here in America, both government and people rich. Let's be grateful.

NOVA SCOTIA TOWN IS FIRED

Several Buildings in Coal Strike Area in Ruins.

GLACE BAY, N. S., June 17. — Incendiaries applied the torch in the mining town of Reserve, in the heart of Cape Breton coal strike area, and today several buildings were in ruins. The powder magazine at Reserve was fired.

The home of Don McNeil, a coal company stableman, was destroyed by fire. The house was owned by the coal company.

Relatives of Mrs. McNeil, who attempted to save the furniture, were seized by masked men. Chief of Police Daniel Martin, with the aid of striking miners, drove off the masked men. The torch was applied to the warehouse and corporation store at Reserve. United Mine Workers' patrons extinguished the fires.

The Hub trestle was set afire and was partly destroyed. The lamp cabin at Reserve was also set afire.

Two hundred troops are encamped about the general warehouses and the Dominion Coal company's offices at Glace Bay.

At New Aberdeen fresh troops arrived to augument the garrison from Halifax. More than 100 special police were sworn in.

A number of automobile parties rode through Reserve before the fires singing "The Red Flag."

Wreck Death Toll

burns from clouds of steam which enveloped the wreckage. The Republic sailed yesterday, after waiting two hours for a special train to bring the survivors and slightly injured from Rockport.

Three separate investigations are being conducted by James Maybury, Jr., chief of the bureau of railroads of the board of public utility commissioners, of New Jersey; Coroner Fisher of Warren county, and E. M. Rine, vice president and general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

A question of authority developed today over disposition of the bodies. Coroner Walter J. Cathrall, of Northampton county, Pa., issued an order that no bodies be removed from Easton until he had conducted an inquest. On receipt of this order, Dr. Paul Correll, chief surgeon of the Easton hospital, said he would ask for a court order to permit relatives to claim the bodies.

Coroner Fisher, of Warren county, N. J., who is to hold an inquest at the scene of the wreck, said he favored an immediate burial of all bodies.

Relatives Reach Hospitals.

The vanguard of relatives and friends of the dead and injured were expected to arrive here and at Easton today, many of them having left Chicago yesterday. In the various towns where the injured are being treated the bodies are in morgues, local citizens had formed committees of sorrow to assist in the matter of hotel and other accommodations those who were coming. Offers of financial assistance were being made by a number of prominent business men.

That the death list would total 50 shortly was the prediction of doctors. Of the injured in the Easton hospital nearly all were suffering from first degree burns caused by steam of the wrecked engine.

In Warren hospital, in Phillipsburg, six of the injured were in a critical condition, two of the eight removed there having died during the night.

Of the nine victims taken to the hospital at Dover, N. J., six died and the three remaining were in such a critical condition that surgeons held out no hopes for them. Three victims in the Memoid hospital at Morristown, N. J., died before 8 o'clock last night.

The morgue of C. W. Cochrane, here, held six bodies, the seventh, that of Jacob Scanlon, having been sent to Scranton. Of the six bodies, Cochrane said, scalding steam had made possible identification remote.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The interstate commerce commission will make an exhaustive investigation of the train wreck on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, it was announced today. Inspectors A. F. Duffy and H. P. Hopson, of the bureau of safety, will conduct the investigation.

List of Questions Prepared.

Attorney Brookes has prepared a list of questions which he will ask the ministers to answer during the hearing. A stenographic record is to be kept of the answers for future reference.

Selection of a successor of F. P. Geiger as superintendent of schools is not likely to come up for consideration at Thursday night's session, it was declared today. The board is investigating several applications.

A committee named to negotiate with Henry Goodwin, regarding the purchase of a piece of property as a site for school purposes in the East End, will report. The site, if acquired, will be used at once for portable school buildings, and ultimately will be the location for a proposed junior high school.

Purchase of portable school buildings for use in Glenmoor and East End will be discussed. William Dickey, school enumerator, has been asked to submit his report as soon as possible, showing the enrollment in these two districts. It is possible that at least two additional buildings will be required to house the pupils there next September.

uberent youth and is yet to meet its most difficult tests. This moment we are enjoying an independence and security which no one threatens, an unrivaled economic power, a prosperity widely diffused, the blessings of strength and peace. If we indulge in misgivings, they arise from the dangers which adhere in affluence.

"We owe our advantages, not simply to vast resources," the stimulus of invention, the resourcefulness of commercial enterprise, but to the intrepidity of the pioneer, to the industry and hardihood of the settler, to the virtues of self-denial and thrift inculcated in millions of homes, to the discipline of religious training, to wise political leadership in great crisis. "If having so greatly achieved, we should now fail or retrograde, it will be due, not to forces from without, but to processes of decay, to the weakening of our fibre, to lessened self-restraint and nervous instability, to the weariness and indifference incident to a delusion of security, to the loss of the individual in the mass, to institutions getting out of hand because of the complexities of administration with ills left unremedied and false remedies creating ills.

Condemns Dictatorship of Class.

"Destructive forces now operating throughout the world may invoke the name of liberty, but their object is not to make men free, but to oppress; not to establish the self-government of a people, but the dictatorship of a class.

"Against these latest and most insidious assaults, we must build up redoubts and man them with the patriots of peace, equipped with common sense and the teachings of past struggles and fired with an unquenchable zeal as that of heroes in arms."

Men prominent in the affairs of nation and state joined with Boston today in celebrating the Bunker Hill anniversary.

The celebration was ushered in with an immense bonfire and followed by a Boy Scout parade and pageant near Bunker Hill monument.

The bonfire drew 150,000 spectators.

Patriotic exercises were held in Faneuil hall following Hughes' address.

Kirby's Lawyer Blames Bankers for Discount Co. Ruin

CLEVELAND, June 17.—Former Appelate Judge Walter D. Meals, defense counsel for Josiah Kirby—, today charged that prominent Cleveland bankers precipitated the ruin of the Cleveland Discount company in his questioning of Raymond L. Poland, former treasurer of the firm.

The charge brought special prosecutors to their feet shouting objections, which were sustained by Judge Fred H. Wolfe, Wauseon, O.

Meals asked Poland if Amos Burt Thompson, attorney for the Cleveland Trust company, was also attorney for the receivers. Prosecutors objected and were sustained by Judge Wolfe.

"We want to show that Thompson was attorney for the receivers and ask the question if it was not bankers of Cleveland that precipitated the ruination of the Cleveland Discount company," declared Meals. Poland however, was not allowed to answer.

Poland was indicted and later freed because of his testimony.

POWERS WARN CHINA IN NOTE

U. S. Joins Foreign Nations in Citing "State of Unrest."

PEKING, June 17.—The gravity of the "state of unrest which is reigning in China and already has imperilled the lives of foreigners' was pointed out to the Chinese government in a new note sent today by the foreign powers, including the United States.

The note called China's attention to "the great responsibility it incurs with the regard of the maintenance of order."

The note delivered by the American and other foreign legations to the Chinese government called "most particular attention to the Chinese government to the gravity of the present situation and the imperative necessity that it meet the situation."

The foreign powers listed the disturbances they regarded as the most serious and the worst indictments of the Chinese failure to maintain order.

Two Railroad Men Are Killed When Freights Crash

READVILLE, Mass., June 17.—Two trainmen were killed today when the locomotive of a 50-car freight train from New Haven, Conn., rammed the caboose of a 48-car freight train from the same city at the Readville station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

The dead:

WILLIAM E. MURPHY, conductor.

JOHN B. DAVIS, brakeman.

Both men lived in Boston.

Drastic Dry Law

chaser of illicit liquor equally as guilty as the seller.

Under the new law a person receiving or buying liquor is liable to the same penalty imposed on the vendor. A $50 fine is mandatory, and a jail sentence is optional with the court.

This, according to Federal enforcement agents, has delivered a staggering blow to the exclusive bootlegger catering to a high-class liquor trade, and has thoroughly frightened the patron of a regular bootlegger into sobriety and almost total abstention.

It can readily be seen how precarious it is for a person to patronize a "regular" bootlegger under the new law. In the first place, the liquor peddler wields a wicked club over the heads of his customers, a club made all-powerful because of the potential blackmailing dynamite it contains. Because, under the new law, the person whose name is found in a bootlegger's list of patrons faces a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Thus far the major effect this provision of the new law has had on the situation has been to frighten away the habitual purchasers from their regular sources of supply, and this in turn has jolted the hitherto thriving liquor peddling industry to the point where today scores of bootleggers in Indiana have turned to less lucrative means of earning livelihoods.

Search Citizens.

Another drastic provision of the new law, serving as a concrete example of the thoroughness with which it deals with the liquor situation, makes a person carrying just a few drops in a bottle on his person liable to search.

This offense is classed as a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of from $100 to $500, in addition to a jail term of from 30 days to six months. On a third offense the penalty is one to two years' imprisonment and a fine of from $200 to $1,000.

To briefly state the major provisions of the "bone-dry" law, any person in Indiana may be sent to jail and fined today for:

Selling or giving away intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Purchasing or receiving intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Possession of intoxicating liquor—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Carrying liquor on the person—thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Transporting liquor by vehicle — one to two years' imprisonment and a maximum fine of $1,000.

Possession of a still or its use—one to five years and a maximum fine of $1,000.

Manufacturing liquor — thirty days to six months and a fine of from $100 to $500.

Operating motor vehicle while drunk—thirty days to six months and maximum fine of $500, and the court may prohibit the guilty person from driving any automobile for one year.

Advertising any formula, ingredient, apparatus for the illegal manufacture, disposal or transportation of intoxicating liquor—ten days to sixty days and a fine of from $50 to $100.

Increased sentences and heavier fines are provided for second and third offenses in virtually all cases.

Plan Air Cooled Automobile.

DAYTON, June 17. — A new air cooled automobile is to be manufactured in Dayton by a company yet to be designated. The car will be built here entirely. The motor is the exclusive invention of H. E. Elliott and C. W. Lang, and the car will be known as the Elliott. According to information, Dayton and Cincinnati capital is back of the enterprise.

Named State Pathologist.

"Tarnish" a Play of Youthful Emotions

An exceptionally large group of celebrated screen players are to be seen in the George Fitzmaurice production, "Tarnish," which was made by Samuel Goldwyn for First National Pictures, and which will be the main attraction at the American theatre beginning Thursday.

"Tarnish" is an adaptation by Frances Marion, well known scenario writer, of Gilbert Emery's Broadway stage success. It is a story about youth dealing with the tragedy that threatens young love when a young manicurist intrudes upon the blissful courtship of two lovers. In its structure there is revealed a fine, neatly woven drama, in which the past of the young man turns up and shakes and illumines the young girl.

How the tarnish is finally cleaned away forms the basis of a devastating chain of relationships, poignant, highly dramatic and entertaining. The leading roles are portrayed by Marie Prevost, May McAvoy and Ronald Colman, who scored so heavily in the leading male role opposite Lillian Gish in "The White Sister." Also prominent in the cast are Norman Kerry, Harry Meyes, Priscilla Bonner, Albert Gran and Mrs. Russ Whytall.

Blocking The Road

About $400,000 of construction work in East Liverpool is being held up because 125 men choose to go on strike for more wages.

The carpenters' strike is blocking the road.

The East Liverpool people for whom that $400,000 of construction is intended, have provided the land for it, the material for it, the money for it—and they need the buildings. They have a right to have them. It is no joke with them. If you are in business, you know how it hits them. They have a right to have their side of this case considered.

The contractors have done everything humanly possible to settle the controversy and let the work go on. They believe there should be no increase in wages under present business conditions, but even so, they have gone the length of offering to let an impartial board of arbitration make the final decision for or against an increase. But the carpenters refuse to do even that.

The carpenters have blocked the road. They seem perfectly satisfied to keep it blocked. They seem disposed to make no effort to bring matters to a settlement.

Why should East Liverpool have to suffer?

COUNTY HIGHWAYS MAY BE IMPROVED

Hancock county roads will probably be improved on a larger scale than first proposed as a result of the visit to the county this week of Governor Howard M. Gore and members of the state road commission. The chief executive and his party traversed most of the highways in the county and were impressed with the need of further improvements other than outlined by the state road body. Contractors are now at work on roads in several sections of the county.

SPECIAL ELECTION IS BEING SOUGHT

A number of Follansbee citizens are preparing a petition, the purpose being to obtain the required number of signatures for a special election to change the seat of county government from Wellsburg to Follansbee. It is said that the citizens of Wellsburg were divided in setiment over the project which would have meant construction of a new court house and jail in Wellsburg, with the whole county bearing the expense. In order to provide the necessary funds, a bill was introduced in the legislature, designed to provide the county court with authority to issue certificates of indebtedness, covering a period of 25 years. The bill passed the house after a stormy battle and received more courtesy in the senate under the guidance of Senator W. S. Wilkin. However, it is said, that owing to pressure brought to bear on Gov. Gore, the chief executive attached his veto to it. Follansbee, realizing that sentiment in Wellsburg is strongly divided, has made a bona fide offer to the county court for a free site and a bonus of $50,000.

Renovating Work Delayed.

Work of renovating the interior of the First Methodist Episcopal church will probably not be started until next fall, according to an announcement made today by Rev. J. W. Schrader, pastor of the church.

Mid-Week Services.

Mid-week prayer services will be held this evening in the local churches. Pastors will be in charge of the devotionals.

Attending P. H. C. Meet.

Hancock county is largely represented at the Protected Home Circle convention this week in Philadelphia, Pa. More than 800 delegates from all sections of the country attended the opening session yesterday in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel. Tomorrow they will be taken to Atlantic City.

Princess Mustapha Leaves Paris When Dancing Girl Enters

BUDAPEST, June.—Finding Western views on marriage superior to the Turkish marital views, the Princess Medjidie Mustapha has left her Prince.

Although Princess Medjidie is but 25, she has been married to Prince Abdul Kadir for eleven years.

Addition of a new dancing girl to the harem is said to have been the immediate cause of the Princess' departure, together with about $25,000 worth of jewels.

The Prince appealed to the police, but the Princess refused to return to her husband and renounced all claim to her two sons, who remain with the Prince.

The Princess declares she intends to begin life anew in the Western style and that Mohammedanism is "foolishness for educated women."

The Prince is said to be broken hearted and finds no solace in his remaining wives ,and swears he will never grant Medjidie a divorce.

National highways in Panama are being improved and an increase in the number of automobiles already is seen.

Coolie Carries Heads Of Dead Relatives Killed in Warfare

PEKING, June.—Too poor to transport the bodies of relatives killed in the battle of Shanhaikwan last Summer to their native place in Honan, a coolie was found carrying two heads wrapped in a cloth.

Attracted by a suspicious bundle, the customs inspector at Shanhaikwan stopped the man, who produced proper papers indicating that the heads he had with him were those of relatives who had fought with Marshal Wu Pei-fu and, since he could not take back the bodies, the families had to be satisfied with the heads of their dead.

All Worn Out and No Pep
When you get into a condition where you have lost all ambition and are discouraged, there's something radically wrong with your bodily mechanism. Ka-di-ok is recommended for stomach troubles, kidney and liver ailments, rheumatism, bad blood, nervousness, auto-intoxication, etc.

"I was tired all the time and completely worn out, lack of pep, general debility and at times would get discouraged and very nervous. I took Ka-di-ok and now feel fine—appetite good, no indigestion, sleep fine. Ka-di-ok is a remarkable and effective medicine."—Mrs. Annie Hildreth, 661 Williams St., Dayton, O.

FOR ITCHING TORTURE

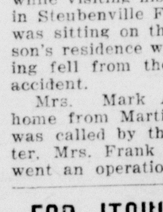
Use Antiseptic Liquid Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation, and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, Itch, Pimples, Rashes, Blackheads, in most cases quickly give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid that may be applied at any time, for it does not show. Trial bottle 35c, large size $1.00. Zemo Soap, 25c. All druggists.

LEMONS BLEACH THE SKIN WHITE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.



Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. Whole World Contributes to Medicine

Ginger from India — Iodine from Chile—Olive Oil from Italy—Epsom Salts from England—Menthol from Japan and roots and herbs from almost every country in the world contribute their share towards alleviating the ills of the race. No other medicine, however, compounded from roots and herbs has ever attained such a marvelous record for success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For over fifty years it has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of womanhood, and is constantly growing in popularity and favor.

K. T. K. Tossers Defeat Industrial League Leaders, 7 to 1

Bucher's Slants Are Real Puzzle to Foes Who Get But Six Hits

Simcox Puts up Stonewall Defense at Third Base; Engineers Dazzling Double Play at Hot Corner; Potters Pounce on Digman for Total of 13 Bingles; Nine Bat in Second Frame.

K. T. K. defeated the Chester Industrial league leaders last evening at Columbian park in a contest that bristled with thrilling performances, the stonewall defense of Third Baseman Simcox and the hurling of Pitcher Bucher. The final count was 7 to 1.

Bucher, veteran though he is, permitted the West Virginians but six scattered hits. His control was little short of marvelous. He refused to allow a single pass. But for a couple of bad throws by his teammates he would easily have registered a shutout, in the opinion of supporters. Incidentally he batted .500 for the day, his sacrifice fly sending in his team's first run.

But four men faced Bucher in each of the first four innings. In the final two he retired the West Virginians in order. In the sixth he fanned P. Bennett, P. Cebula and F. Marshall as quickly as they faced him. In the second he struck out W. McMath and Cochran in succession.

But once did Bucher seem to falter. In the third Digman and L. McMath singled with none out. Chester fans began to roar. Captain Shaw rushed in from right field and demanded that the crowd be moved back from the third base line. In the delay of doing all this the elongated twirler came back to his former effective form, and following an undertone word from the wily team leader, resumed his mowing down process.

Then it was that the husky, but quiet, Simcox did that which gave a famed southern officer the title of "Stonewall," for by almost uncanny perception and activity he kept the runners on the bases and retired each of the three next batters, and in doing so sent the big crowd wild by a dazzling double play that was completed so quickly as to appear hardly consummated. He ran behind the third base crowd to corral P. Cebula's foul. After taking P. Cebula's line drive he stepped on the bag before Digman, a yard off it, could touch it.

Simcox, too, hit safely twice, his double in the first scoring his team's first run.

P. Pollock had a field day at the bat with a perfect mark of two singles and a double in the appearances.

C. Coleman made the longest hit of the game—a triple in the fifth in which he showed himself a speeder as he rounded the paths. His catch, running back into right, and landing L. McMath's fly, stood out as one of the fielding stunts of the game.

Shaw, Finley and Simcox had two hits each. Rardin had the peculiar record of leading off in the second and third winning in succession during which he walked on both occasions and twice subsequently scored. In the fifth he again led off only to fly to P. Bennett in middle.

Digman was hit hard, a total of thirteen bingles being registered off him. Nine men batted against him in the second inning when four safeties, a pass an error and a sacrifice fly netted four runs. Though but one run ensued three straight hits were made off of him in the fifth inning also.

Darkness set in in the sixth inning and prevented further play.

Shaw, singling in the first, stole second and reached third as C. Marshall threw out Finley at first and scored on Simcox' double over third.

Rardin walked in the second. C. Marshall booted C. Coleman's drive. P. Pollock released a bunt, but no one was covering second and all hands were safe. Bucher flew to F. Marshall and Rardin counted. McShane singled, scoring C. Coleman and P. Pollock. Finley singled over third enabling McShane to finish reaching second on the throw in to stop previous runners at the plate.

Rardin, again walking in the third, reached second as C. Coleman sacrificed, Digman to W. McMath and third as P. Pollock singled to right. The latter stole second on Pott's overthrow Rardin crossed the plate. Potts retired in favor of McMath at this juncture, Cochrane going to first and M. Cebula to right field.

F. Marshall doubled in the fourth and went to third as Finley relayed wildly to that corner and scored on M. Cebula's sharp rap to Simcox, who threw accurately to P. Pollock, but the latter dropped the assist.

C. Coleman tripled in the fifth and scored on P. Pollock's double to middle.

The score.

Saucy Sue Wins Coronation Stakes at Ascot Meet.

ASCOT, England, June 17.—Before a large crowd of women in smart gowns and men in correct morning dress, Saucy Sue, owned by Lord Astor, raced to victory here today in the coronation stakes, a feature event of the second day's royal Ascot program. It was Saucy Sue's third straight victory this year.

In spite of the cold, threatening weather British beauties again turned out in large numbers and paraded the paddocks hours before the races began.

Lord Derby created a surprise by scratching Pharos, a favorite for the royal hunt cup. He gave no reason.

Oarsmen From West Face Hardy Rivals of The East

Harvard and Yale Crews Meet Friday; Washington Will Try for Third Win Over the Field Monday.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 17.—There was a suspicion today, faint like the obligato of a distant violin, that the western dynasty over intercollegiate rowing may come to a sudden and altogether unexpected end before the passing of another week.

On Friday at New London, the Yale varsity, developed to rowing affluence by Ed. Leader, a young genius from the University of Washington, will race four miles against Harvard on Monday at Poughkeepsie, the University of Washington will attempt to make it three straight over the field.

Both Washington and Yale are and will so remain almost prohibitive favorites to win. Both may lose.

That, however, is merely a possibility. If even one of them fails to come through, it will be an upset worthy of a drop-bottom wagon. It is difficult to say just which of them faces the stronger possibility of defeat becaus it is so hard to imagine feat because it is so hard to imagine

Yale has only one crew to beat and hasn't lost a race in three years under Leader. His eight is said to be as powerful as the combination that rowed the world silly at the Olympic games, although only three members of that outfit, Spock, Kingsbury and Captain Wilson, are available now. It is a crew that would seem to be destined to wear the purple only.

But the tip is out that Harvard has mustered a great crew, perhaps the greatest Harvard crew of twenty years. There is nothing in its 1925 record to indicate impending fame. The eight has simply found itself during the last three weeks.

All the signs point to less than a boat length separating the two at the finish, and when you have to draw them that fine, anything can happen. Ask the man who didn't know it was loaded.

Washington's greatest menace at Poukhkeepsie is furnished by the Navy, which is said to have summoned its best combination since its immortal 1920 crew. This, if true, means that the boat which beats the Navy will be the finest in the land and perhaps Washington fals a trifle short of that classification. It rowed a time trial in worse than 21 minutes yesterday and "rusty" Callow is alleged to have frothed at the mouth. The fact of tha matter is that Washington couldn't hope to show much in the rough water prevailing.

Its trouble, however, was that it didn't show enough. No crew will win the Poughkeepsie event in 21 minutes, even if the race was rowed in Molasses.

Tagging The Bases

In one of the wildest finishes ever seen at Forbes Field, the Pirates pulled out a 10-inning decision over the Giants, 13 to 11, on a pass to Cuyler, Barnhart's triple, Traynor's double and Wright's home run, after the Giants had tied the score in the ninth and taken a two-run lead in the tenth. It was the fifth straight defeat for the Giants.

Imbued with their frenzy of the preceding day, the Athletics ran amuck against Shaute in the first two innings and won from the Indians, 12 to 7.

The Reds took third place away from the doddering Dodgers by winning the ball game, 6 to 5, with successive two-run rallies in the eighth and ninth.

Our Mr. Ruth got his third homer of the campaign, but the Tigers beat the Yanks, 5 to 3, thanks to Whitehill's commendable pitching. It was the ninth time this season the Yanks have failed to carry a winning streak beyond two games.

The wind carried Flatstead's fly ball away from the fielders and in consequence the Red Sox beat the White Sox, 2 to 1, in a real old fashioned pitchers' battle between Ehmke and Robertson.

Managerial fists flew in all directions as the Cards made it four straight over the Phils, 6 to 4. Managers Fletcher and Hornsby engaged in an impromptu brawl and were ejected. It was the tenth straight defeat for the Phils.

The Braves pulled out a belated decision over the Cubs, 7 to 4, by beating about the bush for three runs in the thirteenth.

B.-W. NINE COPS CONTEST WITH WELLSVILLE, 8-5

Visitors Score Their Runs in Last Inning Rally.

Stiffling a dangerous rally launched by their opponents in the seventh inning, Babcock & Wilcox managed to finish in front of the Wellsville C. & P. nine last evening at Klondyke, 8 to 5.

The Oaklanders were leading when the clash went into the seventh inning. Up until that stage they had blanked the Wellsville nine in successive innings.

But the visitors suddenly found their batting eyes and fell on Morris for five hits, which, coupled with a costly error by McGonigal, produced five runs.

Morris settled down and stopped further damage.

The all-around playing of Rager in left field for Wellsville, and the hitting of Morris and Shipley, who led their respective teams with three bingles each, featured the game.

Stops your car Quicker! in 27 feet—going 20 miles an hour!

After a series of tests made on January 21, 1925, Mr. F. D. Wilson of the C. R. Wilson Body Company, Toledo, Ohio, signed this statement: "My Hupmobile, with two-wheel brakes, lined with Rusco Brake Lining, can be stopped, going 20 miles an hour in 27 feet."

That's how safe Rusco-lined, properly adjusted brakes will make your car. A lining will pass police inspection if it will stop in 35 feet going 20 miles an hour. Rusco stopped 8 feet quicker! With death ahead, 8 feet leeway is a godsend.

Rain or shine makes no difference to Rusco

RUSCO grips and holds just as well in wet weather as in dry. Turn the hose on Rusco-lined brakes. Then on any other kind. Water makes no difference to Rusco's stopping ability! Rusco is treated with a compound that makes it resist water, heat, oil, dirt and wear. Will not burn.

Your repair man pays more for Rusco than for other brands of lining, but he doesn't charge you more.

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you any other brand. When your brakes need relining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job. Have your brakes inspected and relined at any of the garages listed below. They are experts using special equipment for proper application of Rusco lining.

DODGERS NEXT ON PIRATE LOT

Brooklyn Will Open Four-game Series Today.

Just two and one-half games from the lead, and with no signs of a let-up, the onrushing Pittsburgh Pirates have successfully passed the long end of the present lengthy stay on the home grounds. Tabbed as the fastest team in the game by no less an authority than Muggsy McGraw, of the New York Giants, the Pirates have become the sensation of the league, and before the final game of the present long stay on the home lot should be either at the top of the league race or very close to it.

Brooklyn, with Dazzy Vance, is the last of the eastern clubs to appear at Forbes Field, playing today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the present week, following which series the Buccos jump over to St. Louis for four games with Rogers Hornsby's rejuvenated Cardinals. Then back to Forbes Field for three games in two days with the Cincinnati Reds, a single game being carded for Friday, June 26, and the first double-header of the season on Saturday, June 27. Saturday double-headers are a rarity at Forbes Field, especially with a club of the calibre of Cincinnati, and one of the greatest crowds of the season, no doubt, will be on hand to see this first double bill of the season. The first game will start at 2 p m.

Following a four-day trip to Cincinnati and Chicago, the Buccaneers return to the home field again on July 2 for the big Fourth of July series, single games being played on July 2 and 3, and morning and afternoon at 10:30 and 3 on the holiday. Cincinnati, always rated as one of the really strong teams of the National league, will again be the Pirates' opponents during this holiday series, furnishing entertainment de luxe. The Reds, with Eddie Roush, Pitcher Adolfo Luque, the temperamental Cuban, Pete Donohue and Rixey, all stars of the first magnitude, are a very colorful team, and there never is a dearth of excitement when they appear at Forbes Field.

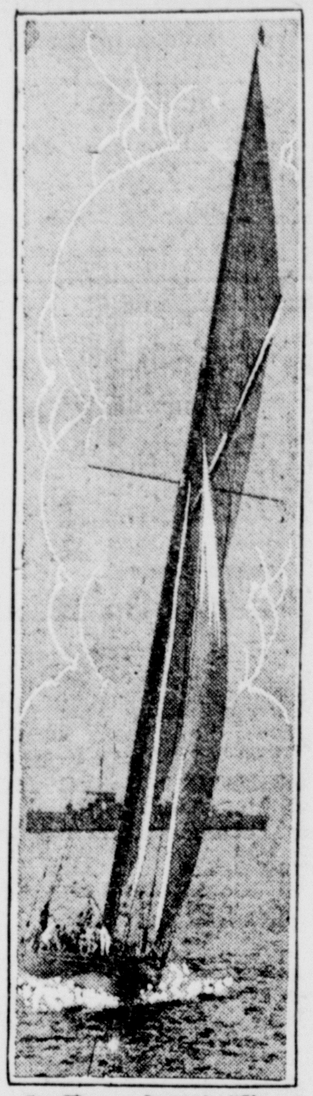
Monday, July 6, following the Independence Day games, something very special is on tap for the fans at Forbes Field, for on that day Bucky Harris and his World Champion Washington Americans will oppose the Pirates in an exhibition game. The Washington club has shown signs of possibly again winning the American league pennant and will bring all their stars, who won the big series last fall, to Pittsburgh with them. It will mean something to the Pirates to win this game from the World champions, and Manager McKechnie states that his strongest team will be sent against the American leaguers.

There are seats for everybody at Forbes Field now, for the club management has thrown open the big new addition to the grandstand containing 12,000 general admission or $1.00 seats, all under cover. This will be welcome news to the fan who either does not care for reserved or box seats or who is unable to determine until the last minute whether or not he can take in the game. There always will be a seat for him at Forbes Field now. No more standing on the field in the sun for the general admission fans, and no more bad ball games resulting from a crowded playing field.

Seats for all the above games now are being sold by mail and a remittance, together with an addressed return envelope, directed to Forbes Field, will bring back the best seats available. Usual prices, $1.50 for box seats and $1.25 for reserved seats, tax included, prevail for all games.

Regular air mail service is to be established between Curaco and La Guaira, Venezuela.

Yacht Defi From Lipton Expected



Sir Thomas Lipton's "Shamrock" makes a striking picture as she cuts through the water in the races at Southend, England. Sir Tom's renewed activities in yachting is leading Yankee sportsmen to believe he intends soon to issue another challenge for a race for the American cup.

WIN KANSAS CITY BENEFIT SCRAPS

KANSAS CITY, Kas., June 17.—Mike Ballerino, junior lightweight champion, and his co-invaders, Harry Wallach and Pete Sarmiento, today were carrying out of Kansas City everything that was pugilistically possible as a result of their fights as principals on the orphans' home fund card here last night. Of the three, only Wallach exerted himself and his temporary discomfitures seemed more due to a hesitancy to hit Harold Plude hard than from being at all pressed.

Sarmiento disposed of Joe Rivers, local Mexican bantam, in eight rounds of their scheduled 10-round bout, and Ballerino punished Billy Henry for 10 rounds, during which he hit Henry whenever the spirit moved him and gaily danced away from returns.

White House Cook Will Go to Swampscott With Coolidge

Executive Mansion Brand of Buckwheat Cakes and Two-inch Steaks Will Follow President on His Vacation.

WASHINGTON, June 17. — The White House brand of buckwheat cakes and two-inch steaks will follow President Coolidge to his summer establishment at Swampscott, Mass., it was revealed today.

Julia Jongbloet, that cook extraordinary whose cullinary art as displayed at the famous White House breakfast table is reputed to have won more than one recalcitrant member of congress over to the administration cause, has been drafted for "foreign service."

When the president arrives at North Shore next week, Mrs. Jongbloet will be installed in the kitchen of "White Court." And she will be only one of a considerable part of the White House staff especially imported to serve the executive and Mrs. Coolidge.

Attending to Mrs. Coolidge's wardrobe and other effects will be Katherine Gwynn, her personal maid. John Jay, elongated butler, will be "doubling in brass" as barber and valet to Mr. Coolidge.

Office Force at Lynne.

Three miles away at Lynne, where the temporary executive offices are to be located, will be a highly efficient skeleton office force under the direction of Secretary to the President Everett Sanders. "Pat" McKenna, who knows and is known to every person of consequence who has visited the White House since 1903, will be on hand to weed out the undesirables and to see that those whose business warrants are interviewed.

Present also will be Erwin Geisser, personal stenographer to the president, and Miss Ellen E. Peck, stenographer to Edward T. Clark, the president's private secretary. Clark is planning to reach Swampscott later in the summer.

Handling the special telegraph wire that will link the Lynne office with the White House in Washington will be E. W. Smithers, chief operator at the executive offices here. "Doc," as he is called, was working a White House wire when the flash recounting the assassination of McKinley was received.

Forster is Liaison Officer

Major J. F. Coupal and Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone will be on hand to look after the health of the presidential party. Dr. Boone was with President Harding when he died, and Dr. Coupal had been constantly with Mr. Coolidge since he took office.

The presidential aides, Colonel S A. Cheney and Captain Adolphus Andrews, will be with the executive for all formal functions. Captain Andrews is leaving Washington this week with the presidential yacht Mayflower, which will be anchored off White Court throughout the stay there for such week-end cruises as the president may care to take

Remaining in Washington at the White House will be Rudolph Forster, executive clerk. Forster will serve as liaison officer between the federal departments here and the summer White House. By daily mail pouch and over the special wire, he will keep the president in constant touch with affairs of state and generally run the government by proxy.

New Garden Menace Creating Havoc in California Towns

SANTA ANA, Cal., June.—Residents of Santa Ana and Orange county who have gardens have been suffering from an attack by an army of helix asperia. Write your own plural, if you must have it.

Helix asperia is the Latin name for snail. This kind of snail is not as destructive as the helix pisana, which caused such havoc at La Jolla, San Diego county, a few years ago.

The Orange county animals (the dictionary says a snail is an animal, are of a grayish color, and have much fun exercising their appetites when they come upon a garden or young orchard, according to A. A. Brock, Orange county horticultural agent.

An auto horn sounds and also turns on light when the car runs too fast, has been introduced.
